COURT ACTION LOOMS OVER ANNEX FOR CITY HALL

Opposition To New Building Project May Ask For Restraining Order

With rumors of a move on the part of an opposition group to ask a temporary restraining order in the superior court to prevent the construction of a city hall annex in the rear of the present city hall, the City Council today opened four bids for the work, ranging from $34,270 to $45,970.

A special meeting of the council was scheduled for next Monday morning at 9 o'clock when contract will probably be awarded, if there is no court action in the meantime.

A resolution creating a city hall annex fund from amounts from varous departments in the 1924-25 budget will also be submitted at that time.

Submit Bids

The bids submitted today were somewhat under the estimated cost of the new structure, it was said. They follow:

Hellman Construction Co., $34,270; J. S. Metzer, $39,950; Elmer Elliott, $41,888 and Kenney & Westerhouse, $45,970.

The Hellman Construction Co. bid, however, was not accompanied by a certified check, which may make it void. A bond was enclosed with the bid.

While there were a number of protestants in the council chamber today discussion of the proposed annex was forestalled when the matter was continued until next Monday morning.

Economic Crisis Hits Germany!

Old Fashioned Stuff! Horses In Runaway!

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—An old fashioned runaway of a team of wild horses drawing a milk wagon in the heart of Los Angeles seriously injured three persons today, stopped traffic for almost an hour and wrecked three automobiles.

In the wild dash, the tongue of a milk wagon was thrust through a small automobile, striking Mrs. Anna Weeks, 50, who suffered concussion of the brain, and injuring C. D. Salyers.

Motorcycle Policeman Fred Haver, who attempted to halt the speeding horses, was thrown into the street from his machine and suffered a compound leg fracture.

Six other persons were treated for slight injuries sustained when they scrambled from the path of the flying team.

130 AIRCRAFT TO BOMBARD RIFFIANS

French Premier, On Scene Of Action In Morocco, Orders Aerial War

PARIS, June 11.—With Paul Painleve, French premier, and minister of war on the ground in Morocco today, after an aerial flight from Paris to Rabat, the Spanish forces were mobilizing 130 airplanes and hydroplanes for a concerted offensive against the Riff stronghold at Alhucemas, a fortified island which the Riffs captured recently.

The Sultan of Morocco received the French premier and Marshal Lyautey, commander of the French troops in Morocco, this morning, after which Painleve and Lyautey left for Rabat, Fez and Ourgha for an inspection of the French front.

Situation Serious

The situation around Ouzzen is still serious, with a large number of Riffs threatening the district. The civilian population was being moved.

A violent attack was made against Mediouna Tuesday and the Riff forces have advanced to within 800 yards of Taounat.

A letter written by Abdel Krim has fallen into the hands of French officers. It told of a general offensive to be launched shortly against Fez, the objective city of the Riffians.

PETER FERRY IS SCORED BY W. F. TOWER

Councilman Says Contractor Becomes 'Lasting Joke' As 'Running City'

Warmly arraigning "partiality in administration of city affairs," Councilman W. F. Tower today scored the action of the City Council this morning when it granted to Peter Ferry, local contractor, a "virtual permission to evade the city ordinance" by allowing him to move thirteen bunk houses, fourteen by sixteen feet in size, from 614 East Acacia avenue to Broadway and San Fernando road.

"It has become a lasting joke in the community that Peter Ferry is running the city of Glendale," Tower declared.

"I think as city officials we should impartially enforce all of our laws. I can't see why Ferry, a man of wealth who has made a lot of money out of Glendale and from the city should be given concessions that a poor man can't get."

Ferry appeared before the council this morning and asked permission to move the thirteen bunk houses without paying the required $5 fee for each building through the office of the building superintendent.

Inspector Halts Move

He asked the concession on the ground that he was "virtually ordered out of the Acacia street address by the council." He admitted that four of the buildings had already been moved when he was stopped by an inspector who told him he had to obtain permits.

"I am moving at the council's orders," said Ferry, "and therefore I should be given a free permit." With little discussion it was granted. Only three members of the council were present at today's meeting, Mayor H. G. MacBain and Councilman S. C. Kinch being absent.

Called "Different"

Shortly after Ferry had left the chamber, Tower began his ar-

TODAY'S GAMES

ST. LOUIS, June 11.—Rogers Hornsby, leading National league hitter, and newly appointed pilot of the St. Louis Cards, has purchased $60,000 worth of stock in the club and will be elected a director at the next meeting of the stockholders in October, it was announced today by Sam Breadon, president.

The stock was transferred from Rickey, vice-president, to Hornsby. Rickey denied he was severing all connections with the club following his withdrawal as manager in favor of Hornsby.

"I had a lot of hard luck while manager," he said.

Hornsby, since assuming his new duties, has led his club mates to eight victories out of eleven games played.

TRAFFIC PLAN IS BARED TO ROTARIANS

Clarence Snethen, Executive Secretary Los Angeles Board, Speaks

"Los Angeles has the simplest traffic code of any American city," Clarence Snethen, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Traffic commission, told the Glendale Rotary club at its luncheon in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse this afternoon.

"Now it is printed on four pages and can be understood, whereas it was formerly printed on sixteen pages. People know now they can't park in painted zones. We have cut down traffic violations which were due to ignorance. We have saved money, cut down accidents, speeded traffic and cleared police courts of many cases," he added.

Offers Assistance

Mr. Snethen outlined the work being done by the commission in a major traffic street plan, studying transportation problems and street work. He offered the assistance of the Los Angeles commission's staff of nineteen experts to aid in solving problems here.

Uniform traffic regulations among the cities of the southland were urged by the speaker, who urged support of the local traffic commission, pointing out that in Los Angeles county there is a car for every 2.9 persons.

"We have found that by throwing all the cards on the table we have obtained the public confidence with the result that we have gotten their approval for all bond issues submitted them."

Within five years the rapid transportation plan will become a partial reality, the speaker predicted. Los Angeles' street plan is six months ahead of schedule, he added.

President Absent

Val M. Hollister, chairman of the program, told of bidding adieu to President Paul M. Stillman and "Bill" Tanner, and their wives, who left this morning for the Rotary convention at Cleveland.

"Plenty of pretty girls, colored ribbons, flowers and candy as well as good Rotary songs will cheer them along the way," was the report made by Mr. Hollister, who then called on Col. James W.

Movie Actor Fined on Wright Act Violation

Willard Louis, 1437 Valley View road, Casa Verdugo, noted film actor, this morning paid $400 fine in the court of Justice of the Peace W. M. Northup, Alhambra, according to Captain Glenn Bond of the sheriff's office dry squad. Louis was convicted under the Wright act for having illicit liquor in his possession, the sheriff's squad making a call at his home yesterday morning. An assortment of wines, gin and whiskey valued at upwards to $8000 was found in a secret cellar and seized.

Mr. Louis, who was noted for his characterization of "Babbitt" was a victim of "Main Street" gossip, it was revealed. Neighbors complained of parties calling at his home at all hours, followed by hilarity which they suspicioned was caused by refreshments, it is said.

Captain Bond today revealed that four members of the sheriff's dry squad reside in Glendale, which is ample warning to others.

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—Eugene D. Funk, Bloomington, Ill., was elected president of the American Seed Trade association at the annual convention here today. Planes Warn Of Plans to Bomb Canton

LONDON, June 11.—Airplanes flew over Canton today, dropping leaflets threatening to bomb the city, according to Central News dispatches from Hong Kong.

The second attack on the American flag this week was without casualties when Chinese gunners fired on the American gunboat Pampagna and the gunboat returned the fire. The Pampagna was escorting a launch containing the students of the Canton Christian college.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—There is no cause for alarm for the safety of American lives and property at Shanghai, Consul-General Cunningham informed the state department today. At the same time Cunningham reported that while there has been a great improvement in general conditions at Shanghai and many shops are re-opening, the strike of more than 100,000 Chinese is not subsiding perceptibly.

U. S. DECLINES TO WITHDRAW MARINES

Refuses To Heed Demand Of Chinese Government To Remove Forces

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Regardless of the Chinese demands made to foreign diplomats at Peking, American military forces will not be withdrawn from Shanghai and Canton so long as state and navy department representatives in the far east believe they are needed for the protection of American lives and interests, it was learned here this afternoon.

Chinese Foreign Office Demands Powers Withdraw

PEKING, June 11.—The Chinese foreign office, in a strong note to the powers, today demanded that the Shanghai authorities spontaneously lift martial law, re-embark foreign marines, disarm the foreign regular and volunteer police and release the rioting students from jail.

The note asserted that the Chinese government cannot share the foreign view as to the shooting of ten students in the street demonstrations that preceded the present general strike. The note insisted that responsibility for the shooting falls upon those foreigners in authority in the international concession.

A spirit of sadness and indignation reigns throughout the nation, the note added.

Request Pope's Dispensation For Marriage

ROME, June 11.—It was officially announced at the Vatican today that a request has been made to Pope Pius for a special dispensation to allow the marriage of Miss Ellin Mackay, daughter of Clarence H. Mackay, millionaire head of the Postal Telegraph Co., and Irving Berlin, writer of American song hits.

The request is understood to have been supported by Cardinal Hayes of New York. The decision of the holy father has not yet been made known.

Vatican officials said that, however, special dispensations such as has been requested in the Mackay-Berlin case are "most difficult to obtain." They are never obtained unless most strongly supported by the church dignitaries most concerned.

NATION FACES INDUSTRIAL DISASTER

Critical Condition Results From Difficulties Of Stinnes' Interests

By S. D. WEYER

For International News Service.

BERLIN, June 11.—The menacing clouds of economic and industrial disruption hung over the Ruhr today, threatening disaster, not only in that rich basin, but all industrial Germany.

It was announced 165,000 workers and miners and 800 office employes of one of the most important industrial concerns in the Ruhr would be dismissed on June 15.

The industrial storm has been brewing for weeks. It was foreshadowed a fortnight before the international feud, re-organization and division of the Stinnes interests, pointed to a possible disintegration of the great structure reared by the late Hugo Stinnes.

The development today indicated that Germany is in the midst of one of the most serious crises she has faced since occupation of the Ruhr.

According to reliable information, the Stinnes liabilities total 155,000,000 gold marks, of which 110,000,000 marks are due July 1.

O-o-o-o-o-! Saxy Saves Youths From Jail Cell!

PORTLAND, Ore., June 11—The much-maligned saxophone may find its place in the scheme of life as a reformer.

The refining toot-toot of horns and strains of a violin will do much toward reducing crime. That's what delegates to the convention of the National Federation of Music clubs in session here today claim for their art. —

"Teach a boy to blow a horn and he is too busy to blow a safe," Glen Woods, driector of music of Oakland, Cal., public schools, told the assembled delegates at the educational luncheon.

"Even a saxophone may be a blessing in disguise" he added.

Mrs. Antoinette Sabell, chairman of music in industries of the national federation, believes that labor troubles will cease when music is universal.

"The hardest person to convince that music has any other value than just a thrill is the hard-headed and hard-hearted business man," she said. "But we can prove to him what music can do. He must know that anything making for happiness and contentment must make for increase of efficiency and productive power."

WILD RIDE BY HARRY THAW IN TAXICAB

Stands On Running Board And Yells 'Whoopee!' In Dash On Broadway

NEW YORK, June 11.—Harry K. Thaw made a sensational reentrance into Broadway's night life early this morning, stalled traffic at Forty-eighth street, motored up the bridle path in Central park, and narrowly escaped getting arrested in as wild a taxicab ride as ever was staged by a movie thriller.

Harry's re-advent into the tinselled life of the roaring Forties was made two weeks ago. It wasn't like the "good old days," but still it has its lure, even in these quiet times, and after two weeks of rusticating down in Virginia, Harry decided to come back for another whirl at it.

Tries To Escape

The reporters saw Harry in a supper club on upper Broadway about the same time Harry saw them.

"Step on it," he said to a taxicab driver in front of the club. The driver stepped on it—with one eye on the speedometer and

YANKEE CRAFT REPLIES TO ATTACK BY SOLDIERS

Land Marines to Protect Canton College; Rival Factions In Clash

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Following the incident in which the United States gunboat Pampanga was fired upon by Chinese while escorting a launch with provisions for the Canton Christian college, Consul-General Jenkins warned the military authorities against repetition of the act, he notified the state department today. No damage was done, and no Americans injured, Jenkins also reported. The general situation at Canton is unchanged, Jenkins reported, but the area in which the fighting is occurring has been slightly extended.

HONG KONG, June 11.—The American gunboat Pampanga, escorting a launch towards Honan last night, was fired upon by Chinese troops and replied to the fire with her three-pounders and machine guns.

Yunnanese troops killed an agitator at the Canton electric power station and the workers there went on strike, according to advices received here today.

Thousands of refugees continue to arrive here from Canton.

Land American Marines To Guard Canton College

CANTON, China, June 11.—American marines have been landed to protect the Canton Chinese college.

Fighting between Yunnanese and Cantonese troops for possession of the city is continuing unabated.

Mrs. F. A. Crampton, who was wounded earlier in the week, is the wife of the superintendent of the Canton Christian college, and was crossing from Honan to Shameen with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Ogden when the bullet struck her in the elbow.

The battle for possession of Canton continues, with little change. Both sides continued heavy firing. There are no signs of life along the river front except soldiers firing from behind barricades. Business is at a standstill.

SEA CAPTAIN

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—Suffering from lack of food and water and almost exhausted from a two weeks' battle with the sea, Captain Holger Hansen, who left San Francisco in a small boat May 27, was picked up on the beach here today. Trouble due to a stalled motor, kept Hansen drifting at sea for days.

Dividends To Be Paid Edison Stockholders

"Regular quarterly dividend checks on the 6 per cent and 7 per cent preferred stock of the Southern California Edison Co. will reach Glendale and vicinity June 16," said District Manager Rowan today. This dividend amounts to $405,963.00 and is distributed almost exclusively in Central and Southern California, where it flows into local trade channels and stimulates local business.

Since starting the active sale of its stock to the public in 1917 the consumer-partners of the company have increased in number from a bare two thousand to over seventy thousand.

"Everything points to a fine year for the Edison Company," said Mr. Rowan. "We have had an exceptionally 'wet' winter in the Big Creek-San Joaquin district, and the completion of the Florence lake tunnel has done away with the danger of a power shortage resulting from a protracted drought."

Rise In Franc Isn't Due To Morgan Loan

PARIS, June 11.—It was learned today that Finance Minister Caillaux assured the Senate finance committee at a secret session that the $100,000,000 Morgan loan is still unused. The recent rise in the franc, Caillaux said, was entirely without governmental intervention, except for the moral value of the threat to use the Morgan loan.

We Sponsor the Memorial Hall Bond Election June 16, 1925

—BECAUSE—

1—Our soldiers and sailors—the men and women who offered and gave their lives in all America's wars—are worthy the modest memorial planned.

2.—The hall will provide a center and school for patriotism, an efficient aid to the children's schools which we earnestly support. It will provide a home for any and all service organizations desiring to use it. At present almost all such societies meet here, there, and anywhere they can, rent and overhead holding down their membership and funds needed for civic and patriotic endeavors.

3.—Glendale is one of the very few cities similar in size and ambition which has not erected an adequate token of appreciation to its veterans.

4.—The memorial—neither ornate nor luxurious but substantial and serviceable—will be built, owned and controlled by the city and located where city authorities may determine.

5.—The American Legion, true to its promise, is turning in the site voted them two years ago to be used or sold as may be deemed best. The Patriotic and Memorial Hall association, if made custodian of the memorial, plans to maintain and care for it.

6.—The cost is ridiculously small in proportion to the great benefits to be derived from this great civic asset. To the average taxpayer—less than "a pint of ice cream per year."

7.—Because we know the people did not forget their sons and daughters during the trying days of war and steadfastly believe they will not forget them now.

—VOTE YES FOR THE MEMORIAL BONDS—

A VOICE FROM THE WILDERNESS!

NOTE:—This volunteer contribution is a classic. It was handed in by C. S. Clarke, who published a newspaper in Los Angeles in 1859. His words of wisdom, acquired through half our nation's life, are worthy of perusal and consideration.

Plans for the Memorial hall for the use of all the patriotic societies of Glendale are taking proper shape and will soon become things of beauty, and a means in the upbuilding of the greatness of our city.

No service society will be barred from its use, and if the societies destined to use the Memorial provide for its upkeep and care, it will be self-sustaining.

It is to the interest of every citizen of Glendale to take deep interest in this matter and we believe each one will do so. As these societies which do much for the common welfare are now meeting "around" in private homes, churches and wherever they can, it is hard to upbuild. Such conditions as these do not allow proper upbuilding of membership or a real chance to do the good they might do and wish to do.

All who belong to fraternal societies know this and cannot help feeling the necessity for voting the necessary bonds.

This Memorial will be a wonderful benefit to our city and I hope every voter will do his part in making the plan a success.

KIWANIANS TO HEAR SALES LECTURER

Dr. Paul W. Ivey to Speak At Meeting Tomorrow On Better Business

Said to be the foremost sales lecturer in the United States, Dr. Paul W. Ivey of Northwestern university, and retained by several large department stores and a number of sales organizations as "head coach" for their sales forces, will speak on "Better Business Building," tomorrow noon before the Glendale Kiwanis club at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

Having conducted the largest salesmanship class in America—a group of 1400—Ivey has the reputation of putting more sales-producing ideas in the minds of his listeners than any other sales lecturer. The talk at the luncheon tomorrow will be one of a series of addresses in Southern California which has been arranged by the department of community service of the University of Southern California as Dr. Ivey's first contribution to this section.

Delegates to Leave

This series of complimentary demonstrations of practical and workable selling methods, planned to develop team work, initiative, personality, judgment and confidence, is to be given in Los Angeles, Long Beach, Huntington Park, Alhambra, Glendale, Covina, Inglewood and San Diego, according to Miss Nadine Crump, superintendent of community service at University of Southern California, who has had charge of arranging the programs for the sales lecturer.

Delegates and visitors to the ninth annual convention at St. Paul will leave Glendale on Wednesday. On June 22 the members of the local club will meet with the Eagle Rock club at 5:45 o'clock, the meeting being arranged in accordance with the convention plans, which calls for all clubs in the United States to meet simultaneously with the opening of the All-Kiwanis night program at St. Paul.

IRISH LABORERS

Holding that laborers have as full right to own homes as farmers, Stranorlar Rural District Council of Ireland, recently called on the government to formulate a plan to enable workers to buy the houses in which they live.

ATWATER RESIDENTS FIGHT SCHOOL PLAN

Ivanhoe Site Favored Over Location At Vitagraph Studio Property In Hollywood; Pastor Returns

Further efforts to influence the Los Angeles Board of Education in the location of a proposed new high school to serve the Atwater and Ivanhoe districts, in order to secure for the school the old Vitagraph studio property in the Hollywood section, will bring opposition from Atwater property owners. They will continue to favor a location nearer their district, urging selection of a site in Ivanhoe.

At a recent meeting of district leaders those who voiced their opposition to the Vitagraph site were met with determined efforts on the part of real estate operators and property owners in the Los Feliz and Vermont section to secure the school for Hollywood, it was learned today.

Leaders in the Atwater district point out that, although the Vitagraph site is being urged, most of the pupils who will attend the school will be better served and will have a much shorter distance to go, if the school is built in the Ivanhoe section where a suitable location has already been offered and tentatively considered by the school authorities.

Reception For Pastor

After an absence of over a month during which time he has been engaged in establishing a new church at Maywood, Rev. James W. Utter, pastor of the Neighborhood Christian church is back in Atwater Park and will preach at the morning services on Sunday. An informal reception for the returned pastor will be tendered during the services. All members of the church are asked to attend.

Sunday will mark the official observance of Children's day at the church. A full program will be presented by children of the Atwater grammar school under the supervision of the Sunday school department.

During his stay at Maywood, Rev. Utter established a new church of the Christian denomination with a membership of 50 persons and more than 100 enrolled in the Sunday school.

Dance For Church Funds

Plans for a social dance to raise funds for their new church in the Atwater district, were announced today by young people of the new Atwater Catholic parish. The dance will take place on Saturday night, May 20, at the Knights of Columbus hall, Glendale. Misses Mary Sullivan, Margaret Calahan, Eileen Northrop and Gertrude Skelley are in charge of preparations.

A card party for members of the parish and their friends will take place at the church headquarters, 3195 Glendale boulevard, tomorrow night. Mesdames Cooney, Canning and Wiemer will act as hostesses.

New Officers Installed

New officers of the Atwater Parent-Teachers' association elected at the annual meeting on May 22, will be installed at the session of the association at the Atwater school tomorrow afternoon. There will be an elaborate musical and entertainment program at the meeting.

New officers who will be installed are: Mrs. E. V. Bacon, president; Mrs. Dale Vaughn, first vice-president; Mrs. C. R. Holcomb, second vice-president; Mrs. George Pennock, recording secretary; Mrs. Rawry, corresponding secretary; Miss Anderson, treasurer.

Poem Praises News As Live Booster for P.-T.A.

Mrs. M. E. Canfield, publicity chairman of Pacific Parent-Teacher association, waxes poetic in her praise of The Glendale Evening News for generous publicity given. She writes:

If it were not for The Evening News
Our P.-T. A. would have the blues
For your generous aid
In publicity has made
An organization of which we are proud.
So Columbus Avenue gives you thanks
On your cooperation we can bank
And we'll never forget
That success we did net
Through aid of The Evening News.

Family Of Musicians On Church Program

A unique entertainment will be given tomorrow night at Tropico Presbyterian church under direction of Clayton L. Brost, for the benefit of the Christian Endeavor society of the church. The entertainment will be furnished by Professor and Mrs. W. King Driggs and their six talented children. They will present a musical program.

Mr. Driggs is a bass baritone soloist and musician; Mrs. Driggs is a cellist and reader; Karleton Driggs, aged 15, is a pianist and also plays the clarinet; Driggs sisters play violins, one being a piano accompanist and the other a reader and interpreter. The two youngest Driggs children play the drums and traps.

The public is invited to attend the entertainment. A silver offering will be taken, the proceeds of which will be used to send delegates from the local Christian Endeavor to the national convention which convenes in July at Portland, Ore.

Joseph Charleville, president of the Ushers' association of Temple Baptist church, Los Angeles, will be the speaker tomorrow night at the monthly meeting of the Ushers' association of Glendale Presbyterian church. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock at the church following which the meeting will be held. W. G. Boyd is president.

Rotary Head

EVERETT W. HILL, president of the International Rotary clubs, is completing arrangements for the annual convention of the organization, in Cleveland.

By GIL A. COWAN
By Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—In the "service" of Southern California upwards 200 Rotarians and wives from southland cities left Central station, Los Angeles, in a special train over the Union Pacific lines shortly before 11 o'clock this morning, bound for the convention of International Rotary at Cleveland, Ohio.

Included in the list of delegates, headed by the Second District Governor, Harry Mason, and Governor-elect Thomas Badger, were Paul E. Stillman, president of the Glendale club, and Mrs. Stillman, and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Tanner, also of Glendale.

Former District Governor Paul Rieger, San Francisco; John H. Gage, president of Los Angeles Rotary club, as well as representatives of thirty-six other cities, are carrying a message, in the form of stacks of literature, telling about this favored clime.

Convention Opens Monday

The convention opens in Cleveland next Monday with Everett W. Hill, international president, calling to order the most widely spread service organization in the world today, which looks not only to fellowship and service, but the promotion of peace among the nations of the earth, better business methods and the development of ideal citizenship.

At Salt Lake City, the first stop on the transcontinental trek, the local Rotarians will be entertained. Also, at that point they will be joined by other California delegates leaving San Francisco tonight on a special train which will make a total of about 400 in the Golden State's party, arriving in the convention city early Monday, according to schedule.

Others To Be Present

Many other Rotarians from California who are touring the east also expect to attend the convention, according to reports received by Secretaries Harry Watson and J. L. Settles of the Los Angeles club, who arranged for the reservations. Outside of Ohio, this state is expected to have the largest registration, although it may be exceeded by New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Illinois. Delegates from England, Scotland, China, Italy, Mexico, France, Canada and other foreign countries will be present.

According to the convention number of The Rotarian, official magazine of the international association, Cleveland has made elaborate plans for entertainment.

Club Women's Message Thanks Glendale News

Another letter of appreciation for publicity received in The Glendale Evening News, comes from the Parliamentary Law department of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Mrs. Cora W. Brown, secretary, writes:

"The Parliamentary Law department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, wishes to express to The Glendale Evening News its appreciation and thanks for the many courtesies received."

EVENT WON BY SANTA PAULA ORCHESTRA

Ventura County Musicians Carry Off Honors In Eisteddfod Finals

Santa Paula entrants, representing the Ventura county district in the final Eisteddfod events in Glendale last night, carried off honors in high school orchestra competitions and the amateur band contest, Santa Paula High school orchestra, competing against Compton High school of the Bay Cities district, won with a score of 87 per cent. Compton's score was announced as 82 per cent.

In the band competitions, Santa Paula won over Burbank High school band under the direction of Hubert Snow White. The scores were: Santa Paula, 88 per cent; Burbank, 82 per cent.

No decision in the community orchestra contest between Glendale and Redlands was announced when several technical points in the rules of the Eisteddfod were invoked. The winner will be announced later, R. Ernest Tucker announced.

Judges of Contests

Playing "Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert and "Pastoral" by German, under the direction of J. Arthur Myers, the Glendale Community Symphony orchestra received loud applause and was believed by the audience to be the unquestioned winners.

Other numbers on the Eisteddfod program last night at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium included an exhibition by a special Pomona orchestra, representing the Pomona churches. Judges were Dr. E. M. Hinter, Arthur M. Perry and A. D. Hunter. They were assisted by H. M. Butts of the Glendale district committee.

W. J. Krafts of Los Angeles was presiding chairman of the program. A reception committee headed by Mrs. Charles H. Toll assisted by Mrs. George J. Lyons and Victoria Pearson Rolfe, greeted out-of-town visitors who attended the contests.

EXPOSITION PLANS

At an international exposition in Basil, Switzerland, this summer, new and old methods of producing hydroelectric energy by converting natural watercourses into navigable waterways by construction of dams and locks will be demonstrated.

REALTORS WILL MAKE RENTAL SURVEY HERE

Plan Steps to Ascertain Cause of High Lease Holdings in Glendale and Endeavor to Remedy Situation

Business property rentals in Glendale are to be placed under the microscope and studied in an effort to stabilize and, in many instances, reduce present rents. Are rents here too high? Are they higher than elsewhere? If too high—why, and what is the remedy?

These are questions that have been asked in Glendale for some months. They were asked publicly at a meeting of the Glendale Realty board yesterday when it was determined to enter into a survey of rent conditions.

There seemed to be little difference of opinion on the answer to the first question. Business property rents in Glendale are too high, all seemed to agree. Realtors differed somewhat in their explanation of the reasons why, however, and a number of remedies were suggested.

Variation Noted

J. F. McClish, who first advocated a rent survey, pointed out the variation of rental rates in the city at the present time. This variation is one of the realtor's biggest stumblingblock in locating new concerns here, he declared. A prospective merchant will be shown a store location at a certain figure. When he discovers that his neighbor on one side pays only half the amount that he has been asked, while another neighboring concern's rent is even more than his would be, he is confused and is reluctant in consummating the lease.

A stabilizing of rents is a paramount necessity, Mr. McClish declared. He predicted that a rent survey would materially affect the values of property in the business district, which he declared, are nearly as unstabilized as rentals at the present.

Charles B. Guthrie, a member of Mr. McClish's survey committee, urged the establishment of a rentals arbitration committee to determine just and equal rents once the proposed survey has been made. He said the excuse of many firms to him for not locating stores in Glendale is, "We can't afford to locate in Glendale, rents are too high."

Denies Dictation

"Rents are exorbitant and out of reason in many cases," Mr. Guthrie declared. "There is no intention on the part of the Realty board to dictate to the landlord; we are just trying to clear up a peculiar situation which exists here in Glendale."

S. S. Gilhuly stressed the need for a stabilizing of rentals, declaring that the realtor's problem is doubled while the present variation in virtually similar properties exists.

Rents in the Glendale business district have been found to be a third higher than the rents on similar properties in such cities as Pasadena, L. H. Myers declared, in urging a rent survey. Highly desirable downtown Los Angeles business property can be had for little more rent than is asked here in Glendale, he said.

Suggests New Basis

L. A. Hart declared that landlords must quit trying to calculate their rent rates on a percentage of the amount invested in the property. They must figure rentals by the number of people that pass the door—the volume of business that is available, he asserted.

An appraisal of property values, independent of the buildings upon the property, was urged by W. L. Truitt. A fixed appraisal on buildings can easily be made, he said, if the actual value of various property locations is determined.

William McMillan asked how the realtor who has sold a landlord a piece of property at an inflated price is going to face that same landlord and tell him that the valuation on which he figures his rentals is too high. Mr. McMillan urged that the Realty board abandon its plans for a survey and allow the natural law of supply and demand to work out the present problem.

Merchants Concur

Lyman P. Clark, past president of the Glendale Motor Dealers' association, and S. F. Benn, both representing the Glendale Merchants' association, concurred in the opinion expressed by realtors that rents are too high. They said merchants of Glendale would heartily welcome a rent survey that would tend to stabilize and reduce rents.

Mr. Bell said that one reason many merchants are seeking new locations at the present time is because landlords in Glendale have utilized only a part of their property in erecting buildings, but

The tables were prettily decorated in yellow

VOLUME XX NUMBER 246

Daily Greeting to News Readers

IT IS NOT FAIR—

To judge a church by its worst members.

To condemn the police if we break the law.

To complain about capitalism if we have been unwilling to work.

To ask for a share of the profits and be unwilling to share the risks.

To blame the movies for all the girls who go wrong.

FOUNDER OF WORLD LAW

We think of international peace, international law and the League of Nations as modern movements but the fact is, a Dutch jurist, Hugo Grotius, published a work on international law three hundred years ago which embraced the fundamental idea of a League of Nations, and which reveals the author a pacifist in the higher significance of the term. His book, "The Law of War and Peace," published in 1625 established international law as an independent science and has been translated into nearly every language of the world. That a fortieth edition of this work appeared in this year of 1925 is proof of its importance.

Grotius' book was published in three volumes. In the first the question of war's essential nature was discussed, whether war could ever be just and under what circumstances; in the second volume the author considered the causes of war and how they might originate; and in the last he dealt with the moral and material aspects of war.

It will be seen that this man was three hundred years ahead of his time for he openly condemned war, demonstrating that in a society of nations, which he conceived, war had only in one respect a right to exist—as a measure against states that do not conduct themselves in accordance with the provisions of international law.

Among other questions that are still bothering the statesmen of the world, this jurist asked, three hundred years ago, whether a third state can regard an injustice inflicted on another state as something which does not concern it. Grotius saw that to resort to arms was the least suitable means of settling controversies, and, following that view, he opposed war with all his might. He believed that a state which begins war for other reasons than for lawful self-defense renders itself guilty of international crime. What a pity that the world was not ready to accept Grotius and his ideas in his day.

CAN'T AVOID TAXES

Occasionally we still hear the old saying that it is cheaper to pay rent than to pay taxes, although it has been worn out and disproved long ago. People who think they can beat the tax-collector by refusing to own property are extremely short-sighted. It would be a very unbusinesslike landlord, one blind to his own interests—and there ain't no such animal—who would not make his rental cover the taxes on the property. The renter pays taxes for the owner, who reaps the rewards of the rise in value of the property. Where rentals advance, the cause is almost always increase in assessments or taxes.

There is an old saying that there is nothing sure but death and taxes, and this applies to the man who rents as well as to the one who owns property. As long as we have government we will have taxes and the property owners will continue to pass the buck to the renter.

You cannot avoid taxes, but you can own your own home and benefit from the increase in valuation that has been going on in Glendale for some years and bids fair to continue for a long time to come.

WORK AND PLAY

The 74-year-old Chicago elevator operator who died the other day after he had stuck to his job without a day off for thirty years took himself too seriously. Devotion to duty is a splendid quality, but, with all the beauty of nature and all the opportunities for enjoyment, it must have been meant that we should have some pleasure in life besides the satisfaction of having done our duty. Richard Le Gallienne says the world has forgotten that the reason for work is—play. "The natural man works," he says, "that he may play—works that he may love and dream, and know, while he may, the wonders and joys of the strange and lovely world which for a short space he is allowed to inhabit."

We pass this way but once and it behooves us to look up from our task now and then at the swiftly moving panorama. If we close our eyes to our dreams, and to the beauty around us too long we may wake to find that our dreams and our appreciation of the beautiful are gone, and that nothing but drudgery is left to us.

FRAUD AND CONSPIRACY

Canceling the California leases of Doheny and his corporation, the federal court said, "by reason of the fraud and conspiracy of Secretary Fall and Mr. Doheny." There was no beating around the bush there. The judge had the evidence to back up his statement, excoriating as it was.

It is a shame that a man who has made millions, presumably by honorable means, and built up for himself a reputation as a sturdy, honest, representative American business man, and one who had been placed in a high position to guard the interests and the property of the people of the country should stoop so low. It is discouraging to the people, and yet we should remember that these things occur so infrequently that when they do happen they are stressed so strongly as to give the impression that there is much crookedness in public life. The fact is there have been few occasions in the history of the country wherein a court could use such terms regarding men in high places.

AMERICA A MINT

"The average European visions America as a perpetual mint from which all money flows," says Garet Garrett, Saturday Evening Post writer. European countries are paying off war loans made by their own people, he says, but they forget the loans made by the United States to Europe were not made by the government of this country but by individual citizens who purchased liberty bonds in order that the government might have money to loan. The British have acknowledged their debt to us, have funded it upon terms satisfactory to us and have made payments upon it. Furthermore, they have brought their currency to par, all at the cost of burdensome taxation. And the continental nations are beginning to realize that if they continue to ignore and shirk the debts they owe us they will eventually alienate American friendship and lose the financial support of private American capital.

THE FRUIT OF THE (FAMILY) TREE

Elwood Haynes

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Not long ago Elwood Haynes died.

He was the man that invented and ran the first automobile in America.

His death calls attention to the fact that the business of making automobiles has sprung up like a mushroom over night and developed from a small affair to an immense industry.

Mr. Haynes was born in Portland, Indiana, October 14, 1857, so he was not a very old man at the time of his death. Within that brief lifetime, however, there was room enough for the development of one of the great business interprises of the United States.

He invented and drove the first horseless carriage through the streets of Kokomo, Indiana in 1893. When he first appeared with it a year later on Michigan boulevard in Chicago at a speed of eight miles an hour he was ordered by the policeman to "get that contraption off the streets."

At that time the contraption was a novel thing and its principal use was to make noise and scare horses.

Nowadays Michigan boulevard in Chicago and Fifth avenue at Forty-second street in New York are alive with automobiles. Everybody who is anybody has one.

Henry Ford has made it possible for poor people to ride in these machines and John D. Rockefeller and his associates have put the fuel supply within their reach financially.

In this short time the automobile has covered the earth. It is worming a burro out of business as a prospector on the plains. It is crossing the desert of Sahara. It is exploring the wilds. Besides this it is the chief means of transportation in the great cities.

There is said to be one automobile for every man, woman and child in Los Angeles county.

They are so thick on the streets of cities that they make transportation a problem.

The automobile truck and truck bodies for busses are still in their infancy.

The automobile is competing with railroads for short hauls.

Recently an automobile business founded by the Dodge Brothers was bought for many millions of dollars by a banking syndicate and the public rapidly oversubscribed for the stock when issued.

That all this has happened within one brief lifetime is an illustration of the amazing progress of business in recent years.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as rather an unimportant day in planetary direction. Although the Sun is in benefic aspect early in the morning adverse influences operate later, for Neptune is in threatening place.

Until 10 o'clock the planetary direction is fairly good for ordinary business matters, but care should be taken to avoid any important initiative.

While the stars are not promising there is no forbidding aspect for those who desire to seek employment. There is an influence making for kindly consideration.

Until mid-afternoon the aspect tends to carelessness and fires and accidents may be more commonly numerous.

This is a most sinister rule for those who assume liabilities and it is well to be most cautious in all business matters.

The evening is a favorable time for sociability and amusements, but there is augury of a changing tendency in popular entertainments that may be apparent.

Reactionary tendencies that show the pendulum of public taste is swinging back toward dignified and formal entertainments are forecast.

Communistic doctrines, long foretold as being disseminated in this country, will lead to a sensational exposure, it is foretold.

Women come under a sway of the stars making for much interest in public affairs, but at this time they will not enter into active participation where they are to exert great power.

Beauty cults of many sorts will flourish this summer, owing to the stars' influence toward natural charms that do away with the artificial aids long so popular.

The seers who prophesied a new leader able to head great national movements among women declare that they are now at work in subordinate places and that they soon will be recognized by service in high place.

Storms at sea and serious damage to vessels may be more frequent this season than usual and it is wise to be careful in choosing dates for sailing.

Persons whose birthdate it is are likely to be in danger from fire and thieves in the coming year. Danger of deception is indicated.

Children born on this day may have dual talents that cause unrest, but they have augury of success in life.

Today's Poem

LINES

Now fades the last long streak of snow,
Now burgeons every maze of quick
About the flowering squares, and thick
By ashen roots the violets blow.

Now rings the woodland loud and long,
The distance takes a lovelier hue,
And drown'd in yonder living blue
The lark becomes a sightless song.

Now dance the lights on lawn and lea,
The flocks are whiter down the vale,
And milkier every milky sail
On winding stream or distant sea.

Where now the seamew pipes, or dives
In yonder greening gleam, and fly
The happy birds that change their sky
To build and brood; that live their lives
From land to land; and in my breast
Spring wakens too; and my regret
Becomes an April violet,
And buds and blossoms like the rest.

Lord Tennyson.

HE KNEW HIS WORTH

A blacksmith in great need of extra help at tire-setting time finally asked Si Warren, who was accounted the town fool, if he could help him out.

"What'll ye pay?" asked Si.

"I'll pay what you're worth," answered the blacksmith.

Si scratched his head a minute, then answered decisively:

"I'll be durned if I'll work fer that."

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

THE THREAD OF LIFE

CLARK KINNAIRD

The saying, "Life is what we make it," is upon many lips, and the average man utters it without a thought. It is one of those things that he hears and instinctively parrots. If he devoted any thought to the matter, he might reach some other conclusion.

Wherever a process of life communicates an eagerness to him to live it, there the life becomes genuinely significant.

Sometimes the eagerness is more knit up with the motor activities, sometimes with the perceptions, sometimes with the imagination, sometimes with reflective thought. But, wherever it is found, there is the zest, the tingle, the excitement of reality; and there is "Importance" in the only real and positive sense in which importance ever anywhere can be.

In a striking passage Henry James writes that, "the world's contents are GIVEN to each of us in an order so foreign to our subjective interests that we can hardly by an effort of the imagination picture to ourselves what it is like.

"We have to break that order altogether—and by picking out from it the items which concern us, and connecting them with others far away, which we say 'belong' with them, we are able to make out definite threads of sequence and tendency to foresee particularly liabilities and get ready for them; and to enjoy simplicity and harmony in place of what was chaos . . . ."

Can we realize for an instant what a cross-section of all existence at a definite point of time would be? As you read and the flies buzz, a sea-gull catches a fish at the mouth of the Amazon, a tree falls in a California wilderness, a man sneezes in Germany, a building bursts into flames in Bombay, and triplets are born in France. Does the contemporaneity of these events with one another and with a million others as disjointed, form a rational bond between them, and unite them into anything that means for us a world?

James supports the idea that just such a collateral contemporaneity, and nothing else, is the real order of the world.

"It is an order with which we have nothing to do but get away from it as fast as possible . . . .

"We break it; we break it into histories, and we break it into arts, and we break it into sciences; and then we begin to feel at home.

"We make ten thousand separate serial orders of it, and on one of these we react as though the orders did not exist."

There is a moral to this: It forbids us to be forward in pronouncing on the meaninglessness of forms of existence other than our own; and it commands us to tolerate, respect, and indulge those we see harmlessly interested and happy in their own ways, however unintelligible these may be to us.

Neither the whole of truth nor the whole of good is revealed to any single observer, although each observer gains a partial superiority of insight from the peculiar position from which he stands. Even prison-cells and sick-rooms have their special revelations.

It is enough to ask of each of us that he should be faithful to his own opportunities and make the most of his own blessings, without presuming to regulate the rest of the vast field.

Who's Who

The appointment of Harry Hull to the post of United States immigration commissioner is the story of another farm boy who rose to a position of importance in world affairs.

Hull, former representative from Iowa, has just been appointed commissioner, succeeding Walter W. Husband, who in turn succeeds Robe Carl White as second assistant secretary of labor.

Born on his father's farm near Belvidere, N. Y., March 12, 1864, Hull was educated in the public schools at Cedar Rapids, Ia., and in 1884 settled in Williamsburg, Ia., where he engaged in the grain business. There he was an alderman for two years, mayor for ten years and postmaster for thirteen years.

It was on the death of Congressman Irwin S. Pepper, Republican, that Hull was nominated to the house of representatives in 1915 during the sixty-fourth session of Congress.

LUCKY SISTER

"My sister is awfully lucky," said one little boy to another.

"Why?"

"She went to a party last night where they played a game in which the men either had to kiss a girl or pay a forfeit of a box of chocolates."

"Well how was your sister lucky?"

"She came home with thirteen boxes of chocolates."

FOR SELF PROTECTION

The company had gone. Mrs. Blinks paused in the midst of her nightly application of cold-cream to ask Mr. Blinks a question:

"I'm well aware of it, dear. Neither can anybody else when I am sitting there," was the immediate answer.

REAL MAN'S SIZE JOB

A great many people who are not farmers have taken up land in western states. An old-timer rode over to the outfit of one newcomer and asked him what he had been doing before he came west.

"I was a wrestler."

"How much land have you declared on?"

"One hundred and sixty acres."

"Well, you got something to wrestle with now, bo," averred the old-timer as he gave his steed a resounding whack.

HOPE U. S. AID IN HUNT FOR AMUNDSEN

Norwegian Friends Of Pole Party Anxious Search Get American Help

OLSO, June 11.—Norwegian friends of Captain Raold Amundsen still were hopeful today that the United States will aid in the search in the polar region for the missing Amundsen-Ellsworth North pole flyers.

There is a possibility a sea expedition may go north prepared to remain all winter in the Arctic and be equipped with sledges to search for Amundsen. It would be desirable that hydroplanes be included for reconnoitring.

This was brought out today in comment by the Norwegian newspaper Tidens, which discussed the refusal of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to allow aircraft to join the several relief expeditions.

New Masonic Lodge Is To Hold Meeting

A meeting of those interested in the proposed new Masonic lodge in Glendale will be held tomorrow night at Hahn's hall, 109 North Brand boulevard, the call for the meeting being signed by A. M. Dewey as master-elect and Aubrey Artiss as secretary. The move to establish another Masonic lodge here has progressed to the point of choosing a name, "Composite," subject to the approval of grand lodge officers. Meetings will be held on the second and fourth Friday of each month.

Mr. Dewey states that the new lodge has a list of sixty-five names signed to join the proposed Masonic organization and the first twenty-five of these names have been submitted to both the local Blue lodges of Glendale, as required by the grand lodge law, before dispensation can be formally applied for.

Meetings of the officers of the proposed new lodge have been held frequently, preparatory to the necessary inspection by a grand lodge official before the dispensation can be issued and it is not expected that this will be before August. Funds are being raised with which to supply the needed jewels and furniture of the lodge. All unaffiliated Masons are invited to attend the meeting tomorrow night.

KEATON PICTURE TO LEAVE COSMO

'Seven Chances' Is Shown For Last Times Today; Clever Comedy

Cosmo theatre is showing Buster Keaton in "Seven Chances" last times today. Friday and Saturday "Frivolous Sal" will be the feature picture.

Buster is teaching the baby to smile, and every week is laugh week at the Keaton home.

Those who declare that Buster Keaton never smiles, either on or off the screen would get a most amusing surprise if they could see Buster teaching his eldest son and heir, 3-year-old Joe Keaton, how to smile.

Each evening after the day is done at the studio, Buster takes the baby on his knee and draws up his face into all sorts of grimaces.

Buster gets down on all fours and shows the baby how a laughing hyena looks when at work. Then he holds his sides and does a fat man chuckle until baby chuckles, too. Finally Buster winds up by tickling the baby and himself and rolling about on the floor in apparent laugh hysterics.

It amuses the baby and is a lot of fun for wife Natalie Talmadge Keaton, too.

GLENDALE OFFERS WESTERN THRILLS

Hoot Gibson Clearly Shows He Is Real Cowboy In 'Let 'er Buck'

Cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, old-time drivers of horse-pulled stages and others possessing vital knowledge of western habits, customs and sports, to a total of close to 1000, to say nothing of outlaw horses. Then there are big-horn steers and such that had a part in the making of Charles Wellington Furlong's novel, "Let 'Er Buck," Universal special, which closes tonight at the Glendale theatre. It has proved itself the most thrilling, colorful picture of western life ever shown on the screen.

Hoot Gibson, the star, long ago convinced motion picture patrons that he is the real stuff as a cowboy. He has shown time and again that he can ride 'em straight up as well as give a pleasing character portrayal. But in this case Hoot apparently cast discretion aside and rode right into the center of a carnival of the most desperate, hazardous, thrilling sports ever held, nothing less than the biggest roundup where the best cowboys in all the land were competing for honors.

All-Around Champion

Hoot established a precedent for a motion picture actor when in 1912 be won the honor of all-around champion of the Pendleton roundup. He was a tophand on a cow ranch long before he thought of motion picture cameras.

Marian Nixon has the part of the daughter of the Texas cattleman for whom Hoot worked. She is the cause of his romantic troubles. Josie Sedgwick plays the part of the woman ranch owner.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

"She is a grunion." That is the latest slang from Hollywood. A press agent's story says that it is descriptive of a flapper, grunion being a fish that comes out of the ocean at night and dances on the beach until it is exhausted. Then it is easily caught.

From that we take it flappers are poor fish, who dance around, defy capture as long as they stay in their own sphere, but once upon a beach they fall prey to the first person who pounces on them. Mebbe so, to use the vernacular. The younger generation certainly does enjoy its fling before it settles down to something useful. At least that is the view of the older folks.

Being useful, working at something, or for someone, is the life most of us lead. Few can have the "good times" and enjoy prosperity, it seems. Few who enjoy prosperity have time for more than work. Responsibility, money, property—all tie a person down, the same as a family. Perhaps we notice these things more in Glendale because it is a family town, most of its citizens occupy positions of responsibility, they own their own homes, they have money in the bank, and they are prosperous.

There is very little of the giddy whirl to be found here. But it is a soul satisfying community. The hundreds of people with whom we have talked recently would live here rather than elsewhere.

Graduation period in the schools here is close at hand. Parents whose children have completed their courses should do two things:

First, see that they have some recreation in the way of a trip, even if the youngsters have to earn the money themselves. Shifting for themselves will give them self-confidence which cannot be inculcated in schoolrooms.

Second, guide them in the choice of colleges, or vocational endeavor to that extend that they have an even chance to succeed. If they are ambitious, and most young people are, see to it that they first learn a trade or how to cultivate the soil. Then let them get a commercial education. And then let them strike out for themselves in business or specialized effort.

Too many young people have a vague idea the world owes them a living, at the same time expressing a willingness to work. But they are not fitted either physically, or mentally, to deal with the world. Two years on a ranch, or working with a construction gang, six months in a business school, university education tempered with vacations spent in manual labor, give an "edge" over the other fellow.

Her father, Joseph Ellingson, and her brother, Earl, have been frequent visitors to the patient's bedside.

HEROIC YOUTH IS LOST IN WAVES

Thirteen-Year-Old Boy Tries To Save His Father And Sister From Storm

PORT HURON, Mich., June 11.—The bravery of little Jimmy McCoy who leaped dauntlessly out of a frail rowboat in which his father and sister were adrift, to swim ashore for aid, may have met a pitiless reward in the waters of Lake Huron. Coast guardsmen have given up all hope of finding the 13-year-old boy alive.

Sunday Jimmy, his sister, Helen, 10, and his father, rowed two miles out into Lake Huron to fish. All winter Jimmy had saved his money for this occasion, and had helped to buy the boat. Lake Huron's waves grew higher and higher in an unheralded squall and the boat was becoming filled with water. Jimmy's father, in his frantic efforts to reach shallow water, broke both the oars and the frail craft, with its cargo of lives, was left helpless.

Courageously, Jimmy, with his father's aid, secured himself a life preserver and leaped overboard, intent upon swimming to shore and summoning aid. Hours later, when coast guardsmen rescued the elder McCoy and Helen, it was learned that it was not Jimmy's battle against the lashing waters that had won their safety as the boy had never arrived on shore.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, June 11.—One of the most notable programs of a year replete with such was given yesterday at the regular meeting of the club when Mrs. Charles Turck, president of the La Crescenta Women's club, introduced her friend of many years' standing, Mrs. Maggie Holloway Fisher, who was practically born and raised on the English stage, and who in her own inimitable manner gave a delightful peep into the outside life of the actress and actors of the American stage of today as she knows it through years of association.

Opening her talk with witty little take-offs on the Englishman's reputed lack of congeniality Mrs. Fisher soon got to the meat of her talk. In times of stress and great disasters the actors are, so Mrs. Fisher said, ready at once with a benefit performance. No sooner does word come of any catastrophe than every theatre in the states is thrown open for these benefit performances. Immediately every person of importance on the stage or in the films is asked if they will not help in the work. They feel complimented to be asked and hasten to give aid.

In speaking of the films Mrs. Fisher told of Sara the Divine being coaxed into posing by Frohman after which the lesser lights of the legitimate stage felt they too could risk working before the Kleigs if the great one had done so.

A most interesting story was that of the Little Church Around the Corner, really named the Church of Transfiguration, but renamed by those of the profession who followed the example of the brother of Edwin Holland, who tried in vain to find a minister broad enough to bury one of the profession. Being sent to the Church of Transfiguration the brother said, "God Bless the Little Church Around the Corner." So did Dr. Houghton and his church become the mecca of all church going stage people. Intimate stories of the beginnings of the numbers of stage societies took the speaker's time, among them being the Actors' Guild, started by a minister who took to the stage then returned to his orders, only finally to come back to the theatre where he did remarkable work between the church and stage.

The Professional Women's league which the speaker had helped form, has helped hundreds of women when they were out of work during the hardest years of the stage of today. Twelfth Night club is also to help women of the craft as is the Order of Friendship for actors only. The Cushman club, named for Charlotte Cushman, the Edwin Forest and the Booth home are all the players' own way of takin care of their professional brother when help is needed. The Gre n Room club is for the business men of the world of make-believe. During the war the dressing and bandages from the Stage Women's Relief corps were the only ones ordered not searched for infections. This organization also maintained seven homes for returned soldiers able to take vocational training and two weeks ago the last of these seven homes was closed with all patients discharged.

In closing Mrs. Fisher thanked the club members for the opportunity of telling of her own people. A rising vote of thanks was accorded the speaker.

The short business session was opened in regular order by the president, Mrs. Charles Turck, followed by reading of the prayer led by Chaplain Mrs. Charles Collins. Mrs. Viola Waddell of Glendale accompanied the club in singing "America the Beautiful" and Mrs. Turck led the salute to the flag. Plans were made for the renting of a piano for the new clubhouse. The style of chair for members was decided, and each will purchase at least one chair to furnish the clubroom.

Mrs. Turck told of the following gifts donated to the club: By Mr. and Mrs. Simpson of Montrose, the large wool bunting flag used yesterday for the first time in a meeting; by Rickenbach Furniture factory, four mahogany chairs, Windsor type; by Russell & Pierce, a bridge lamp. Waste paper baskets, flower baskets and pictures have also been given while the club is indebted to the Lauderdale Linen shop for the hangings in the new card room.

After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed over the teacups. The food sale netted a neat sum for the building fund. Mrs. Colin Cable of Glendale had donated a beautiful decorated cake which Mrs. Turck purchased and presented to Mrs. Fisher for her birthday anniversary.

The next meeting will be held in the clubhouse.

The eighth grade of the Crescenta school will hold its class picnic on Friday afternoon at the Baldridge rancho here. The children will enjoy the tennis courts, swimming pools, baseball grounds and hiking on the trails.

The STUCCO home needs paint

The new stucco house is not complete until it has been waterproofed by a coat of paint. Many home owners do not know this, and fail to give their homes this necessary protection.

Why waterproof stucco? Because it is very porous, and will absorb moisture unless the pores are sealed with the proper paint. A coat of BASS-HUETER CONCRETE WALL COATING forms a hard, waterproof surface that keeps out all dampness and insures a warm, dry interior. Old as well as new stucco buildings should be given this protection.

The beauty of the stucco structure is enhanced by Concrete Wall Coating which gives the soft, flat finish so popular today. The uniform tone remains unaffected by sun and rain; and color combinations, to be had only with paint, open up new decorative possibilities.

You can now paint your property and pay on the Bass-Hueter Monthly Payment Plan. Call and let us explain this plan to you.

Automobile Club's Plan Is Meeting With Approval Of Authorities

National adoption of the principle of teaching highway safety in the public schools, which has been successfully operated under the plan of the safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California in various cities in this section, is expected as the result of the appeal for such action recently sent to public school superintendents throughout the country by Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

In this request to school authorities for their co-operation, Secretary Hoover called attention to statistics showing that approximately 6000 children are killed annually by automobiles, which is 30 per cent of all the fatal motor vehicle accidents.

The organization of school boy patrols was especially recommended in this appeal from the secretary of commerce. In the plan sponsored by the safety officials of the Automoile Club of Southern California, this patrol system has been operated for several years in Los Angeles and various other cities of Southern California.

Proves Successful

That safety teaching in schools is successful was illustrated by 1924 statistics which show that the child death rate expectancy in Los Angeles had been reduced 21 per cent for the year while facts compiled by the National Safety council from reports from eighty large cities throughout the nation showed a steadily ascending death rate among children, caused by automobiles.

As a beginning of its educational program of extending safety study to every elementary school in Southern California, the big motoring organization of that section which now has a membership of more than 107,000, has established such teaching in the public schools of Los Angeles, Glendale, Bakersfield, Long Beach, Santa Barbara, San Diego, Pasadena, Pomona, Ventura and other cities.

The material reduction in child fatality expectancy in Los Angeles last year has attracted nation-wide attention, according to the requests for information.

Drastic Law Will Revoke Auto License

The new motor vehicle law which was signed Saturday, May 23, 1925, by Governor Richardson will automatically revoke the license of any operator who is convicted three times within a year on charges of speeding or reckless driving, according to the legal department of the National Automobile club.

This is one of the most important changes in the motor law of the state. Failure to yield the right-of-way is also made a misdemeanor.

This year the registration period will expire on December 31 instead of January 31, which will make January the registration month.

The law also provides for physical examination of an applicant for chauffeur's or operator's license whenever the State Motor Vehicle department shall deem it necessary.

CAUTIONS FOR OPEN ROAD VACATION

Medical Expert Gives Few Simple Rules To Guard Against Disease

This is the season for motor migration. From now until the snow flies again, hundreds of thousands of automobiles laden with long distance tourists or, perhaps, outdoor campers with a definite destination in mind, will "hit the grit" of the great national highways, and their homes for weeks to come will be the great open spaces. Perforce, they will take their food and drink where they find it.

With thousands of cities and towns throughout the United States furnishing municipal camp sites for the convenience of motor tourists, hazards of illness common to such travelers are decreasing, but there is still reason for precautionary measures of health protection on the part of the individual, because of this more or less hit or miss mode of living.

Motoring Season Is Well Under Way And Tourists Seek New Sights

By SPARE TIRE
Written for The Evening News.

Transcontinental motoring season is in full swing. The automobile clubs will tell you that. And equally as many people are going east as coming west this year. The Lincoln highway, the National Old trails, the Santa Fe trail and the rest are nothing more or less than America's "Main street."

Get out to some desert center and you will meet folks from everywhere, anywhere and nowhere in particular. Some of them have been touring for years. Regular gypsies, you might say. Then there are the exuberant young folks, coming west to seek fame and fortune, not to mention the interstate travel from Arizona and Nevada, which forms a large share of the traffic.

Sightseers, visiting the national parks, are numerous, with many women drivers piloting machines over the desert stretches, which are not so bad if you have a good car, in good repair, and spare tires and tubes. Four days to Salt Lake from Los Angeles is reported as average running time. Two days takes you to Phoenix. Roads are in better shape than ever before.

However, it is a hot trip over the sands of California, Arizona, Nevada and New Mexico. And the

'Blind Spots' Cause Numerous Accidents And Are Only Beginning to Receive Real Attention, He Declares

By H. A. VAN DUSEN
Of The Evening News Staff

The main thing in driving a car is the ability "to know where you are going before you get there," and not merely "after it is too late," but the matter of the "blind spots" caused by obstructions to vision in the closed car is "only just beginning to get real attention."

So says Sergeant J. V. Mercer, head of Glendale's motorcycle squad, who operates under Chief of Police John D. Fraser. He also notes that some makes of cars enable the driver to sit "in a position where he can see vehicles from side streets, as well as seeing clearly ahead," but "some automobile builders have been very bad offenders" in preventing just that. He remarks:

"The pillars on either side of the windshield of a closed car have to be strong and substantial. Many makers have been able to accomplish this result by the use of steel pillars of strong but slender section. The result is that the vision of the driver is not cut down materially on the front, left or right quarter view.

That Blind Spot

"A bad feature is the blind spot at the rear of the car. It is not possible to have as clear a view behind as forward, and it is not necessary, but it is really necessary that a fairly clear view be had behind; not only as far as straight back is concerned, but also some sort of view out the rear quarter."

Naturally, the discussion of blind spots brought up the question of side curtains for open cars, and Sergeant Mercer observed:

"At best the lights or windows in the curtains are only fairly transparent. After the curtains have been used a while they become scratched and become yellow. This, combined with the fact that the cloth part of the curtain on many of them makes up by far the largest percentage of the curtain, makes them very bad offenders.

Some Improvement

"Some of the makers have gotten around this by making the curtains at the front doors, where the driver is most likely to need visibility, much larger than at the sides or back. This helps materially, and it would be well worth while and a matter of safety for those who have side curtains that do not permit of proper vision at the front of their cars to have a curtain maker increase the size of the curtain light on the two front curtains. The cost is low and the money spent may be the means of preventing an accident.

Lighting Question

"The small quarter lights, as the lights at the right and left rear corners of the car are termed, help materially in lighting the interior as well as giving the driver a view to the rear in

20 Years Ago

Taken from the files of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Read 'em over, folks, and weep for the "good old days."

In the trial of an autoist who was accused of driving twenty-six miles an hour in violation of the city speed limit of twelve miles an hour, jurors impaneled in Pasadena asserted that they had never ridden in automobiles and that their knowledge of the machines was confined to getting out of their way. Yet they swore they were not prejudiced against the owners of the "devil wagons," and found the defendant not guilty.

While carelessly attempting to fill the gasoline tank of his automobile without putting out the lamps of the machine, a Los Angeles man and three women were injured in an explosion that "came near demolishing the 'devil wagon.'" A five gallon can of the gasoline was spilled and fire flashed quickly over the street so that the fire department was called to extinguish the blaze.

About fifty machines driven by members of the Automobile Club of Southern California participated in a club run to Riverside. They followed a trail made by sprinkling confetti from the lead car. Racing was prohibited and the run was a two-day tour.

One of the chief motoring difficulties in the early days was the necessity of stopping an auto to lead excited horses around the car. The best time to drive was at night because the headlights of the car warned people driving a horse on the road so that horse, buggy and occupants had disappeared in the brush or on a side road by the time the auto neared where they had been.

Police officers tested the speed of cars suspected of going faster than the city speed ordinances permitting usually twelve to fifteen miles an hour, by following the machines on their bicycles with watches in their hands, timing the car between two selected points. At other times the officers stood at each end of a measured distance and timed the cars as they covered this space.

Mint Canyon Gives Driver New Thrills

An interesting drive for those seeking something out of the ordinary is the one through Saugus and Mint canyon to Palmdale, continuing north along the pavement as far as the Del Sur road, then turning west, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club.

Mint canyon is now abloom with thousands of tall, stately yuccas, but motorists are warned that it is unlawful to pick these blooms, and violators of this law will be prosecuted.

Before reaching Del Sur, poppy fields are seen which color many acres with a golden hue. From Del Sur interesting trips can be made to Elizabeth lake or Lake Hughes, returning to Los Angeles via either San Francisquito or Bouquet canyons.

Coast Highway Gaps Can Be Closed Soon

Closing of the final gaps in the continuous pavement of the coast highway between San Francisco and San Diego is assured with the acceptance of favorable bids in Sacramento in the near future for the construction of two new bridges.

The bridges will span Villa creek at Pismo Beach in San Luis Obispo county, and will eliminate a dangerous curve and grade crossing according to a report received by the engineering department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Because of the problem involved in eliminating the grade crossing over the railroad line, a short section of the highway at this point has never been paved. In order to make this improvement and to eliminate the curve and grade crossing, part of a right-of-way of a direct line was condemned.

While the state's share of the improvement will be defrayed with federal aid, San Luis Obispo county is also contributing $25,000 toward the expense of the improvement.

HIGHWAY SURFACING

The surfacing of our highways is advancing at the rate of about 40,000 miles per year, according to facts received by the engineering department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Packard Organization Uses Sound Business Basis In Dealer Contact

Probably the greatest step looking forward to sound business connections with dealers has been the inauguration of the comprehensive sales development department of the Packard Motor Car Co., to help the dealers' sales organizations, according to William H. Daniel of the Dixie Motor Co., 1129 South Brand boulevard, Glendale Packard dealers.

The company behind the move took the view that it is very much to its own interest to train the dealers' salesmen in the most modern merchandising methods, and to this end sales schools are conducted by the dealers throughout the country. The "floater" type of salehman is being eliminated by preparing salesmen for a life work.

The engineering department is keeping pace with the intensified methods used in merchandising. Dealers are selected slowly and carefully, because when once under contract, they stay with the mother company for years.

Paige Guests Granted Treat That Would Astound Makers Of History

Can you picture the amazement of Cabrillo, of Father Sierra, of Don Lugo or of Pio Pico if they were to be whirled in a motor car around the entire cradle of Southern California's history in one single day?

But that is exactly what a party of sightseers in a Paige automobile did recently, according to D. R. Tompkins of the D. R. Tompkins Motor Car Co., 219 West Colorado street, Glendale Paige-Jewett distributors. They set out from Los Angeles comfortably early and drove by way of Cahuenga pass and Dark canyon to Glendale and from here to Pasadena. The Cahuenga pass is recognized as the scene of the treaty between the Californians and Fremont while Pasadena was the gateway of the Santa Fe into Los Angeles.

From Pasadena it is a delightful ride over the foothill boulevard to Claremont where the early travelers inbound from the Cajon pass turned southward to avoid the foothills. Into Pomona, now as then, except for the actual means of travel, the tourist wends his way. Then to Chino, Carbon canyon, Olina, Long Beach, Wilmington and back to Los Angeles through Compton.

New General Sales Manager

Announcement of the appointment of D. S. EDDINS to the high executive position with the Olds Motor Works, is made by I. J. Reuter, general manager of the company. Mr. Eddins was formerly associated with the main office of the Chevrolet Motor Co.

I. J. Reuter, general manager of Olds Motor Works, announces the appointment of D. S. Eddins as general sales manager, effective June 1. In making the announcement Mr. Reuter says there will be no change in the distributing policy of Oldsmobiles.

Mr. Eddins has been connected with every phase of the selling division of the automobile industry during the past eighteen years, and is resigning as assistant general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co. to take the new position.

Starting in as a retail automobile dealer, Mr. Eddins later became a distributor, spending four years in these two capacities. Fourteen years ago he became affiliated with automobile factory sales work, and six years ago joined the Chevrolet organization, opening its wholesale branch in Denver, Colo. Later he was made Atlantic coast regional manager in charge of the northeastern section of the United States for Chevrolet, and several years ago was appointed assistant general sales manager.

The Big Basin road from Saratoga to Santa Cruz is now open and in good condition, according to the touring bureau of the National Automobile club.

MANY FEATURES FOR STUDEBAKER

Automatic Advance of Spark Allows Engine to Time Its Own Firing

Some of the features of the new Studebaker on display at the Packer Motor Car Co., Brand boulevard at Colorado street, are worthy of particular note, said R. L. Conover, sales manager.

"The light control on the steering wheel lends to safety, the automatic spark advance allows the engine to time its own firing and the emergency brake lever is under the dash, where it is out of the way. Foot fatigue is unknown since the advent of the special foot accelerator used on all Studebakers," he stated.

In addition to these and many other features are the balloon tires, designed to eliminate shimmying, heavy steel fenders that can stand hard knocks, a steel apron over the gas tank, a dash gas gauge, an eight-day clock and upholstery that is real leather.

The Studebaker engine has large bearing surfaces for all moving parts, inherent balance and a dozen features peculiar to Studebaker.

Roomy quarters, a rapid delivery and service system, the most modern type of equipment, and competent workmen are essentials upon which the Cizek Auto Electric Co., 300 South Brand boulevard, has constructed its success and popularity, according to Henry M. Kuhn, manager.

A popular feature of the firm's equipment is the headlight testing arrangement that is built and used along scientific lines. All types of automobile electrical work are handled in the Cizek shops.

"Service is one of the strongest aids to success in the present day business world, no matter what line one's endeavors follow," opines Kuhn. "Service is paramount, although prices must be retained on a reasonable scale and the quality of merchandise must be above reproach always."

Three Maxwell demonstrators, a coupe, a sedan and a touring car, will be among the cars that will be placed on sale in the Glendale Motor Car Co.'s used car sale that has just started at 124 West Colorado street.

"These cars have been used for two months each as demonstrators," said Lyman P. Clark, president of the company. "It is our policy to put new demonstrators in service every sixty days, and this insures that the purchasers of these three Maxwells will be getting practically new cars at prices that are away below those of new cars."

Other cars included in the list of more than twenty that have been placed on sale, and that have been taken in on recent sales of Maxwells and Chryslers, include many of the leading makes of automobiles. All of them have been put in first class condition, the worn parts have been replaced in every instance, and where it has been considered necessary new paint has been applied.

Bargains Are Offered

"Every car in the lot," said Mr. Clark, "is a bargain for someone who wants to secure economical transportation at a low cost. And the low cost does not merely apply to the initial payment for the machine, but to the upkeep, for these cars have been placed in excellent condition and are ready to deliver many miles of travel to their purchasers. They represent sound values, and anyone who wants to enjoy the pleasure of motoring this summer, and who feels that he cannot afford to lay out a large sum on buying a new car, can find here many opportunities to secure a real automobile that will meet all his requirements as a big reduction on new car prices."

HIGH AVERAGE IN GAS USE SHOWN

Tests Of Oakland Six Fail To Find Its Particular Secret Of Service

The senior class in automotive engineering at the Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, recently conducted a series of tests to wring the secrets of Oakland Six economy from this car by scientific means and measurements, only to discover that it averaged 25.8 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Another interesting record noted was that the Oakland accelerated from five to twenty-five miles per hour in eight seconds in high gear and in five seconds in second gear. At thirty miles per hour, the four wheel brakes brought the car to a stop in twenty-five feet, nine inches, according to John Neuschaefer, 420 East Colorado boulevard, Glendale distributor.

In charting the economy curve, it was discovered that the greatest efficiency in miles per gallon was secured at a speed range between eighteen and twenty-five miles per hour, which is the speed at which most of city driving is done. Six road runs constituted the tests.

PARK ROAD OPENS

With the official opening of Sequoia National park, heavy travel is anticipated. The roads are in good condition and the control has been put in effect on the road from Kaweah in Giant forest.

Question: Why do all of the great racing cars use Valve-in-Head engines?

Answer: Because this type develops the greatest speed and power. All first place winners of the Indianapolis 500 mile race since 1912 have had Valve-in-Head engines. Buick pioneered the Valve-in-Head engine in 1904 and has used it ever since because it is more powerful, more economical and more dependable.

MOTOR DEMAND GROWS RAPIDLY

Chevrolet Dealer Declares Production Is Bound to Continue to Fall

The late months of 1925 will set a record for motor car demands, according to the prediction of James V. Hough of the James V. Hough agency, 241 South Orange avenue, distributors for Chevrolet in Glendale.

With the demand for cars holding on longer this year than ever before in the past, indications are that production will continue during the fall months at a high clip, assuring one of the best, if not the best, automobile year in history.

The sales peaks and depressions of former years have been less apparent during 1925, Mr. Hough explained, indicating a steady demand which should do much to stabilize the market and react for the betterment of the automobile industry as a whole.

No one section of the country is predominating in the demand for automobiles in America at the present time. Throughout the country the demands have revealed a gratifying steadiness and uniformity of market.

BUY TIRES NOW ON CREDIT PLAN

Smith Tire Co. Outlines Way That Presents Benefit To Owners of Cars

In these days when credit has become as valuable as cash, it is an asset to have within reach a system of automobile tire credit like that maintained by the Smith Tire Co., 239 South Brand boulevard, agents for Viking safety cords.

The Smith Tire Co. has established a credit plan whereby purchases of tires of any value or size may be made without delay or unnecessary red tape for as low as $1 per week in payment.

"No need of deferring vacation trips when tires can be gotten for a small down payment," Irwin Smith, manager of the tire company, said. "Let the vacationist come and see us."

During the summer months the Smith tire establishment will be kept open nights until 7 o'clock and on Saturday night until 9 o'clock.

DELAYED JUSTICE

A motorist was arrested on the outskirts of Los Angeles three days after his alleged violation of the city speed limit of fifteen miles an hour. In court, the "speed cop" declared he couldn't propel his bicycle fast enough to catch the offender on the day the infringement happened. The fine was $15.

BUYERS OF CARS DEMAND SERVICE

Hup Dealer Points to Desire Of Public for Modern Station Methods

The fact that the automobile buying public prefers to buy from the dealer who maintains a modern sales room and up-to-date service department, is stressed by H. V. White, manager of the H. W. Swanson motor car agency at 228 South Brand boulevard, Glendale Hupmobile dealers.

Modern sales and service stations are requisites of the successful automobile agency nowadays, according to Mr. White.

"The well laid out and well kept establishment holds an attraction for the prospective buyer in almost every instance. Appearance of the agency counts for almost as much as appearance of the car to be sold.

"Furthermore a modern building designed to give the utmost in efficiency will result in time and labor saving sufficient to make a difference in the profit and loss columns. Fully realizing these conditions, it is the policy of the Hup Motor Car Co., to have every service station, whether large or small, the best in its class."

BIG DEMAND FOR GOOD USED CARS

Olds Dealer Finding Brisk Sale Of Reconditioned Autos At Present

C. H. Hunter, Oldsmobile dealer, announces that he is in need of good, used cars for resale, and for that reason will give a good top valuation for used cars of merit. For one week he has been conducting a special sale of used cars on the used car lot, which he has just opened on West Broadway.

The used car sale has gone over so big that Mr. Hunter is now in need of good, used cars and can make unusually big trade allowances to purchasers of new Oldsmobiles.

Rough Detours Used On Salton Sea Road

Two detours are in effect at the present time on the Salton sea route between Los Angeles and El Centro, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club.

One is through the town of Westmoreland and is several blocks in length, quite rough and chucky. The main highway between Brawley and El Centro is under construction, necessitating the use of the "Dogwood" road which is also quite rough and chucky.

Whittier Road Will Run Beneath Tracks

The State Railroad commission has authorized the construction of an underpass under the tracks of the Union Pacific railroad near the town of Montebello, on the Whittier boulevard, Los Angeles county, according to recent advices received from the touring department of the National Automobile club. This roadway will be sixty-one and a half feet wide, providing two thirty-foot one-way traffic arteries.

OLDFIELD'S RECORD

Barney Oldfield made a new world's record by traveling at the rate of a mile in fifty-three seconds in a race he won on the track in the old Los Angeles Agricultural park, now Exposition park. The race was under the management of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Barney drove his "streak of greased lightning," the Green Dragon.

VALVE CLEANING NOT NECESSARY

Great Mileage Obtained In New Willys-Knight Due To Its Engineering

Like a beautiful bound book that has class in its contents, the new Willys-Knight brougham is distinguished for the internal engineering that forms the basis for all the beauty and luxury of the car, according to H. H. Murray of Murray Motors, Inc., 905 South Brand boulevard, Glendale distributors of Willys-Knight and Overland cars.

"Under the beautiful body is a chassis that is strength itself," says Murray. "And under the car's sleek, graceful hood is the famous Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine, the only type of automobile engine that actually grows quieter and smoother during the first 50,000 miles.

"The Willys-Knight engine is patented and fully protected, free in its design of such complications as noisy pushrods, tappets, clashing cams, and valve-springs, and absolutely free of any need at any time for carbon cleaning and valve grinding. Owners often report driving the first 50,000 miles without incurring a dollar's worth of repair expense on the engine."

BRAKE MACHINE ACCENTS SAFETY

New Device Is Installed By Parker & Black To Aid In Careful Driving

The installation of a new Tru-Drum brake lathe as a part of the equipment at Parker & Black's plant at 217 West Colorado allows motorists to have their brakes trued up without the necessity of removing the tires or the drums, according to H. M. Parker.

"This machine," he declares, "makes it certain the drum is trued up with the hub, assuring perfect brake action and contributing materially to the safety element in motoring."

Mountain Roads Are Put In Better Trim

Construction work on the City creek road in the San Bernardino mountains has been completed, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club, and all roads leading to Big Bear lake, City creek, Mill creek, Rim of the World and the desert are open and in splendid condition at the present time.

Plans are now under way for paving the Mill creek road to Forest Home and oil is to be placed on the road near the summit to keep down the dust. The turns have been widened and many grades cut down on this road.

Better Touring Year Predicted By Bureau

It is believed that 1925 will be a better touring year than 1923, which was a banner year in Southern California. From every quarter comes news that more people will seek the open road than ever before and that the tours will be longer.

The touring department of the National Automobile club has received numerous requests from all parts of the east for maps and road information, these requests coming from individuals and touring bureaus and indicating that thousands of tourists will invade the state this year.

ANCIENT HISTORY

"The automobile is getting to be almost as common in Fresno as the bicycle," reported a newspaper of that city twenty years ago. Now, there is at least one auto for every three persons in Southern California.

CAR HAULAGE IS IMPORTANT ITEM

Predetermination Of Loads Gives Best Results, Says Salesman

Buying delivery facilities or commercial motor transportation has been reduced almost to an exact science. This is brought out in a discussion of Speed Wagon sales policies by Ray M. Smith, of Reo Glendale Motors Co., representatives in this territory.

"Responsible manufacturers of commercial cars and trucks have been very active in bringing about intelligent buying and intelligent use of motor equipment for delivery or haulage purposes," says Mr. Smith. "This is not altogether unselfish on their part, for they realize that rational use of their products will result in better performance and correspondingly increased prestige.

"One thing that Reo has consistently campaigned against is overloading. The Model F Speed Wagon was designed to carry loads up to one and a quarter tons, and salesmen have always been under instructions not to sell the Speed Wagon into service where loads could not be kept within this maximum."

Highways To Pacific Are Being Improved

Long Beach boulevard is now being widened through South Gate, connecting with Pacific boulevard in Huntington Park. Several sections of this thoroughfare have already been widened and when completed will be a one hundred foot boulevard from Los Angeles to Long Beach, the widest stretch being in Huntington Park.

According to the touring department of the National Automobile club the South Gate stretch will be completed about July 1. Just east of Huntington Park, Atlantic boulevard is being widened and when completed will be the leading thoroughfare between Pasadena and Long Beach.

Skid Chains Needed For Yosemite Trip

Motorists to Yosemite National park should carry skid chains, according to recent report received from the touring department of the National Automobile club, as heavy rains in the mountains have made roads slippery but passable. It is strictly against the rules and regulations of the park to admit any animals, such as cats, dogs, etc., and many cars are being turned back for this reason.

LOVE TRAGEDY MAY CLAIM TWO LIVES

Real Estate Dealer Shoots Bakersfield Hotel Man And Then Himself

SACRAMENTO, June 11.—A strange love tragedy which may cost two lives was enacted in the high Sierras when C. E. Pratt, Truckee real estate man, shot and possibly fatally wounded C. E. Clough, Bakersfield hotel man, and then killed himself, according to meager information gleaned here by local officers co-operating with Truckee authorities.

Clough was brought to a local hospital from Truckee for treatment. He is suffering from a shotgun wound in the leg and loss of blood and little hope is held out for his recovery.

Shot While Asleep

He told attendants that he had been shot by Pratt while asleep at a camp near Truckee where Pratt was selling lots to campers.

According to Clough, Pratt had been paying attention to two women, one of them a bookkeeper in his real estate office and the other residing in Truckee. Pratt accused Clough of "tipping off" his visits to Truckee to the other woman, according to statements made at the hospital here.

Sergeant Mercer Tells About Careful Driving

maneuvering his car into a small space, as is so often necessary on Glendale streets. It is not always a collision with another car that has to be avoided. A great many of the dents in the body and fender are caused by backing the car into place in a garage where other cars or garage pillars are in the way."

A point too often overlooked is the blinded vision caused by too long a visor over the windshield Sergeant Mercer observes.

"This particularly affects the occupants of the rear seat," he says. The front compartment occupants can look out and up because they are close to the visor. The angle of vision from the rear seat is very much more curtailed. This does not make much difference on level roads or in the city but it is very exasperating when driving through the mountains near Glendale or in the scenic country that surrounds this city.

Cuts Off View

"Even the ordinary top cuts off much of the view in a case of this kind, but the visor makes the situation very much worse, especially when descending a hill. For this sort of traveling a visor that can be lowered and raised at will is very much to be preferred, but unfortunately, as these are not apt to retain their good appearance as long as the fixed visor, they are passing out of existence.

"Good rear view mirrors should be part of the equipment of all cars. Some states are making it compulsory to have them installed. It should be required as well in California."

Out on the Open Road

From the snow-crowned slopes of the Siskiyou,
And from cloud-wreathed Shasta's height,
Runs a pleasant road into God's abode,
To the Vale of Heart's Delight.

From the marts of trade, from the strain and stress,
Let us ride the King's Highway,
By the ruined walls and the silent halls,
With their storied cloisters gray.

Through the fern-clad paths of the redwood groves,
Where the singing rivers glide,
To the rock-bound steep where the breakers sweep,
At the will of wind and tide.

To Yosemite and its granite crags,
Where a thousand voices call,
Where the waters race in a mad, swift pace
As they burst their icy pall.

California weaves with a mystic loom,
And it casts a magic spell,
And the Gypsy Trail over hill and dale
Will a joyous story tell.

—E. V. WELLER, National Automobile club.

Motoring Season Is Now Calling Autoist

weather is getting warmer. Tourists who carry their own camping equipment and cook their meals find considerable satisfaction in not being turned away from hotels and not having to wait for regular hours of the "eating houses," which is fair a term as may be applied to most of the village inns.

Highways have been constructed in the last few years, but few hotels to speak of have yet found trade to merit their existence. Fifty miles from any of the sizable towns and you forage for your food, usually ending up at a Chinese cook shack in a railroad "tank town." Thanks to the auto trade schools, motor mechanics with their service stations are to be found in greater number than before.

Cash Is King

Roads are well signed, the result of a half-dozen organizations' work, but you can't believe in all the signs advising this, that or the other routes, according to tourists, because town pride comes before much necessary leveling of the bumps in the road. Then, too, the only inducement these communities have for tourists to bide a wee is that of getting repairs for broken springs, punctured tires, or shattered lights.

At that, the charges for camping, fairly respectable hotel rooms, meals and services are not exorbitant. The fraternity of the desert is charitable, but cash is king. No credit, no checks cashed and a large turnover of small stocks have made many independent catering to tourists.

Care Must Be Given Tools Beneath Seat

Tools in a kit should have as much attention as a car, and the different instruments that are permitted to shake around under the deck of the roadster or coupe cannot be expected to be useful in an emergency.

The broken handle of a hammer should be replaced, pliers tightened, bolts replaced in the jack, files cleaned and screwdrivers refaced. No tool should be permitted to get rusty.

BUICK IS BUILT ON SOUND BASIS

Local Dealer Explains Some Of the Reasons for His Car's High Place

"What has made Buick what it is today?"

This is a question often asked and is best answered by a bit of Buick history, according to H. E. Hall of Tanner & Hall, Glendale Buick agents, located at 622 South Brand boulevard.

"Buick started out originally with sound basic principles on which to build," said Mr. Hall. "Since the early days of motor travel the Buick has forged ahead rapidly to a place of leadership.

"Buick cars captured many of the records in the days of the early road races, when contests were being held to demonstrate the utility of the automobile. By the time of the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915, Buick leadership was so well established that Buick was awarded a gold medal in recognition of the merit of its product.

"If any more definite proof of Buick leadership today is desired, it is found in the fact that for seven consecutive years Buick has received special recognition at the National Automobile show for its merit."

Medical Expert Gives Rules For Vacationist

thrill for the city bred, but extreme care must be practiced by these holiday makers if they are to avoid the myriad hazards lurking in the open country to beguile the unwary. For this reason, the Prudential Insurance Co. is offering advice to its policyholders. These "Cautions for Campers," if followed carefully, will preclude possible tragic endings for such expeditions. Dr. Paul FitzGerald, associate medical director of the Prudential, says:

"To know your water supply is most essential. Do not drink water from babbling brooks or from inviting wayside springs unless you are sure of the source. Water from the old oaken bucket that hangs in the well near the stable may harbor typhoid germs. It is far better to take your drinking water with you, even though it is not convenient to keep it cool. At any rate water that is not cool quenches the thirst more readily.

To Avoid Typhoid

"The sources of the milk supply must be watched as carefully as that of the water. Make sure that the proper sanitary precautions have been taken before it reaches you.

"The simplest way to avoid typhoid is to be inoculated before you start.

"Don't eat over ripe fruit. All fruit should be washed carefully before eating. All foods should be kept covered and not exposed to the sun or flies.

"The matter of camp sanitation should receive careful attention. The camp site should be left as clean and sanitary as when you took it over. All debris should be collected and burned and the ashes soaked with water so that forest fires will not follow.

Frequent Bathing

"The traveling vacationist will find that frequent bathing makes for comfort, and that food digests more readily if not eaten when tired or upset over a flat tire that has to be changed. Anger and fatigue hinder digestion.

"For those who like the water Dr. FitzGerald suggests that two hours should elapse between eating and swimming time. And then one should be careful not to become exhausted. Strange waters, he warns, are to be entered warily, and not to be dived into at all.

"An ounce of precaution," he paraphrases, "is worth a ton of regrets."

TWO END LIVES

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—Two men despondent because of ill-health and financial difficulties, ended their lives here yesterday. Daniel P. Sheridan was found dead in his room by a friend and Otto F. Swartz was discovered dead in his home by his wife, both men committing suicide by taking gas, according to police.

AUTHORIZED STAR CAR SALES AND SERVICE

This appointment adds to the endless chain of Star car dealers throughout the Pacific Coast, one of the old established and reliable business firms of this vicinity.

Years of square dealing with the public have given the R. A. McLean Organization an enviable reputation for honest and courteous treatment.

It has been their policy to offer their customers nothing but the very highest type of quality merchandise. They now offer for your approval a complete showing of the 1925 Star car with the Million Dollar Motor.

This is the Car That Everybody Is Talking About—

The car that climbed to Lake Arrowhead, sealed in high gear—the car that conquered the stiff grades to Camp Baldy—that carried two people to the top of Mt. Wilson in high gear—that has made plenty of other famous hills in the vicinity of Los Angeles too numerous to mention.

This is the car that offers you four-wheel brakes, straight-side cord tires on all standard models and full balloons on sport models; full force-feed lubrication to all bearings, Morse silent chain instead of noisy timing gears; smooth dry-disc clutch and the tubular backbone construction, which makes the chassis strong and rigid.

This is the car that has challenged every other make of car selling under $1000 to a competitive test of speed, power and endurance—with no takers.

In our opinion there is no other car on the market which is the equal of this 1925 Star in appearance, riding quality, mechanical perfection or price.

That is why we offer it to you with every confidence in the judgment of our many friends and customers expect the tenant to pay rent based on a percentage of the total investment. Business firms are now demanding buildings that run from street front to alley and with basement accommodations, he said.

BIG OPENING THIS WEEK—COME!

Decry Small Stores

Mrs. P. E. Gaskill, manager of the Deitrich Realty Co., said that the time is past in Glendale when landlords can expect one story business structures to pay them a profitable return on the amount of money invested. At the present price of Glendale business property it is necessary to erect a three or four story building in order to get a proper return in rentals, she said.

The need for stabilizing values was stressed by E. V. Black, head of the real estate department of the Pacific Southwest bank, in a brief talk to the realtors. Information that would be gained through a survey would be valuable to realtors, banks and many others, he declared.

The consensus of opinion was that rents are high and that the great variations in rent are a handicap. The realtors voted to recommend a survey to determine the best way to remedy the difficulty.

private banks to "sanitate" the Stinnes structure to prevent further partial breakdowns.

Further trouble in this huge chain of industries would rock the already shaky German industrial world.

Increasing Blows

Less than a week ago the Stinnes re-organization was made public. Three days later it was reported the situation at the Thyssen works was critical, threatening at least a partial shut-down.

The great Krupp works had previously announced the dismissal of 9000 workers July 1 and wage cuts for those remaining on the payroll.

Today's blow falls with increasing force. It is the most serious development in the crisis which German economic leaders attribute to French occupation of the Ruhr.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

Miss G. writes, and I answer:

1—Is chronic constipation curable? Yes.

2—Should it prevent one from marrying? No. If it did, there would not be very many marriages.

3—Will you give the names of some physicians and laboratories that give blood tests, X-ray of teeth, etc.? Call up the County Medical Society of your city and ask them to do this for you.

One of the best things for chronic constipation—aside from regularity of habit, long walks with a brisk stride, special abdominal exercises and correct diet—is the taking every morning of one or two heaping tablespoonfuls of granular non-medicated agar-agar, in two or three glasses of water, one-half to one hour before breakfast. Don't expect results immediately, and meanwhile don't take any physics, because these will nullify the results. The constant taking of physics is one of the causes of constipation.

If this agar does not help you, take at night a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful or more of psyllium seeds. These are tiny seeds that look like little fleas. (The common name of the plant is "fleawort" for this reason). They have a mucilaginous quality that is very effective for constipation. (I'll give you the names of the firms who put them up if your druggist does not carry them). You might try taking a tablespoonful or so of mineral oil also.

We have an article on constipation which you may have by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. You had better ask for the article on Atonic Abdominal Wall also.

WHOLE FAMILIES DIMINISHING

"Dear Doctor:—I am one of the grateful class who has been enlightened by your helpful articles. Your method for reducing is simply marvelous in its results. Two months ago I began the good work, inducing my husband and son to join me. My weight was 160½. Today I am 145½. I am five feet one and one-half inches tall. What should I weigh? I am 64 years old.

"I have always been very active, play eighteen holes of golf daily, when anyone will play with me. Am perfectly strong. Never was a glutton, but apparently must have been getting more than my share of good things to eat.

"I take 1200 calories per day now, and my husband about 1800 calories. He has lost nearly as much as I.

"Wishing you a long and useful life.—Mrs. J."

The rule for finding the average normal adult net weight is to allow 110 pounds for five feet in height (in stocking feet) and five and one-half pounds for every inch over, (disallow for every inch under). You may vary 5 per cent above, or below, this, depending upon the heaviness of your bones. According to this rule you should weigh around 118.

We do not allow for increased weight with increasing years. The insurance companies have found that those who are underweight for the average after 40, are healthier and have a longer life expectancy. The tables that were used were tables of averages, and as there are so many overweight, the averages have been too high.

Where the whole family is on the calories wagon, it ought to be much easier. The fact that your husband on 1800 calories has lost as much as you have on 1200, shows that he is either of a larger frame or he is more active physically. Of two persons, the larger needs more food, even though the activities are the same. Thank you for writing and for your good wishes, Mrs. J.

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

This is the hour of the neckscarf. We see them embroidered, dyed in mixed colors, and painted.

To paint one at home it is not necessary to have any previous knowledge of painting. Simply buy two yards of China silk thirty-six inches wide and have it hemstitched down the middle and at either end. Cut this hemstitching down the middle, to make a picot edging all around. The picot edging is particularly popular just now, although hand-hemming may be used instead, if desired.

Of course the two yards of goods, divided in exact halves lengthwise, will make two scarfs. Buy a transfer pattern and put it on with a hot iron.

The next step is to assemble the painting materials. If you have no regular artists' palette, use a large plate—either glass or china. Buy artists' oil paints in tubes, of the desired colors. These colors may be made a lighter tint by being mixed with a little white oil paint. But instead of using an oil-paint brush, use a water-color paintbrush which has a finer point. Pour a little gasoline into a cup and begin the work; for gasoline is needed to thin the oil paint.

Have the scarf-end tautly thumb-tacked to a board which is covered with white blotting paper. The blotting paper absorbs any superfluous paint, thus preventing it from spreading on the scarf. A very little experience will teach you what you may do, and may not do, to gain the proper effect. I would advise you to try painting a simple flower on a sample of the same silk before going ahead on the scarf itself.

Because you are using gasoline you must not work near heat and flame. It is a good plan to apply one color wherever needed in the design—all over the scarf—then wash your brush in fresh gasoline and begin applying some other color in the same way. Take care not to let two different colors overlap.

I always like to see the home woman go ahead and try something new! We never know what talents we have until we have experimented, do we?

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

I'm afraid a great many mothers think that because a baby is born with a fine and lovely skin, nothing need be done to preserve it beyond beyond ordinary cleanliness. It is quite true that a baby's skin does not need the elaborate care that most mature complexions require to keep them perfect; for one thing, a child lives on a saner diet than his parents—at least, he ought to. And simple foods, plenty of milk, not too much in the way of meat and pastry, fresh air and exercise and early hours do for a grown-up's complexion what it does for the child's.

But the young child's skin, being very fine, is very sensitive. Too much heat, too much cold, chap and coarsen it. A small bottle of olive oil should be kept handy, and a little wad of cotton. At bedtime, if the baby's skin seems the least bit rough or dry to the touch, soak a little cotton with the oil, and rub over the child's face. Or, if the child has been playing hard and her face is very dirty, a little oil or cold cream (if the cream is mild and cleansing) rubbed on first, and then washed off, makes the skin cleaner with less work, than the soap and water washng, and makes it softer, since the washing need not be so vigorous.

Cold cream or olive oil, or any pure grease, can be used on small knees with great advantage. It takes a lot of hard scrubbing to make them clean when children play all day in short socks, and the cream not only cleans them, it keeps the skin soft so it will not get hard and yellow and calloused. This is not vanity but common sense.

Golden Hair—it is only natural for some lashes to drop out, just as it is for some hair to drop out of the scalp. These are loose hairs that should come away so that new and stronger ones will have a chance to grow in their place.

A. B.—A wart from which hair is growing requires a doctor to remove it, and this also applies to the mole and the other blemish that you say is "purple." NEVER attempt to remove any of these blemishes yourself.

Lucey L.—I am sorry but I cannot suggest to you any names of facial surgeons. I shall be glad to help you in any other way, however.

Mrs. F. E. T.—There is no special way to massage the ankles with cocoa butter. All you can do is try to knead the muscles so that the blood is fully circulated and so that the pores will absorb as much of the oil as possible.

Tomorrow—Where Old Age Shows.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Wedding Today

The quaint little Church of the Angels, Los Angeles, was the setting this afternoon, Thursday, June 11, 1925, at 2:30 o'clock, for the marriage of Miss Louise Margene Lavison of 519 North Maryland avenue, and Charles Hall Fishburn, also of Glendale. Rev. H. C. Parke, rector of the church, performed the single ring Episcopal service. As the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin were played by the church organist, the bridal party entered the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Gus Lavison of 1111 North Maryland avenue. She wore a frock of blonde silk lace over apricot satin crepe, made with bouffant skirt. Flowers of metallic ribbon in pastel shades were used to trim the skirt on either side. A bow of silver metallic ribbon with streamers trimmed the front of the dress. Silver satin slippers and blonde chiffon hose were worn. Her hat was blonde horsehair braid with under brim trimming of maline in pastel shades, and gold metallic ribbon bow on the side. Blonde maline hung from the back of the hat over her shoulders and tied at the wrists with silver metallic ribbon. She carried a shower bouquet of Irish Elegance roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Gus Lavison of 1111 North Maryland avenue, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of shell pink georgette crepe trimmed with creme silk lace, over pink crepe de chine. The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON

Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

After she had finished no one spoke for a little while. Then Hanaud slowly lit another cigarette, looking now upon the ground, now into the air, anywhere except at the faces of his companions.

"So this alarming thing happened just before 3 o'clock in the morning?" he asked gravely. "You are very sure of that, I suppose? For, you see, it may be of the utmost importance."

"I am quite sure, Monsieur," she said.

"And you have told this story to no one until this moment?"

"To no one in the world," replied Ann. The next morning Madame Harlowe was found dead. There were the arrangements for the funeral. Then came Monsieur Boris' accusation. There were troubles enough in the house without my adding to them. Besides, no one would have believed my story of the face in the darkness; and I didn't of course associate it then with the death of Mrs. Harlowe."

"No," Hanaud agreed. "For you believed that death to have been natural."

"Yes, and I am not sure that it wasn't now," Ann protested. "But today I had to tell you this story, Monsieur Hanaud"; and she leaned forward in her chair and claimed his attention with her eyes, her face, every tense muscle of her body. "Because if you are right and murder was done in this house on the twenty-seventh, I know the exact hour when it was done."

"Ah!"

Hanaud nodded his head once or twice slowly. He gathered up his feet beneath him. His eyes glittered very brightly as he looked at Ann. He gave Frobisher the queer impression of an animal crouching to spring.

"The clock upon the marquetry cabinet," he said, "against the middle of the wall in the treasure room. The white face of it and the hour which leapt at you during that fraction of a second when your fingers were on the switch."

"Yes," said Ann with a slow and quiet emphasis. "The hour was half-past ten."

With that statement the tension was relaxed. Betty's tightly-clenched hand opened and her trifle of a handkerchief fluttered down on the grass. Hanaud changed from that queer attitude of a crouching animal. Jim Frobisher drew a great breath of relief.

"Yes, that is very important," said Hanaud.

"Important. I should think it was!" cried Jim.

For this was clear and proven to him. If murder had been done on the night of April 27, there was just one person belonging to the household of the Maison Grenelle who could have no share in it; and that one person was his client, Betty Harlowe.

Betty was stooping to pick up her handkerchief when Hanaud spoke to her; and she drew herself erect again with a little jerk.

"Does that clock on the marquetry cabinet keep good time, Mademoiselle?" he asked.

"Very good," she answered. "Monsieur Sabin, the watch-maker in the Rue de la Liberte, has had it more than once to clean. It is an eight-day clock. It will be going when the seals are broken this afternoon. You will see for yourself."

Hanaud, however, accepted her declaration on the spot. He rose to his feet and bowed to her with a certain formality but with a smile which redeemed it.

"At half-past ten Mademoiselle Harlowe was dancing at the house of M. de Pouillac on the Boulevard Thiers," he said. "Of that there is no doubt. Inquiries have been made. Mademoiselle did not leave that house until after 1 in the morning. There is evidence enough of that to convince her worst enemy, from her chauffeur and her dancing partners to M. de Pouillac's coachman, who stood at the bottom of the steps with a lantern during that evening and remembers to have held open for Mademoiselle the door of her car when she went away."

"So that's that," said Jim to himself. Betty at all events was out of the net for good. And with that certainty there came a revolution in his thoughts. Why shouldn't Hanaud's search go on? It was interesting to watch the building up of this case against an unknown criminal—a case so difficult to bring to its proper conclusion in the Court of Assize, a case of poison where there was no trace of poison, a case where out of a mass of conjectures, here and there and more and more definite facts were coming into view; just as more and more masts of ships stand up out of a tumbled sea, the nearer one approaches land. Yes, now he wanted Hanaud to go on, delving astutely, letting, in his own phrase, things disclose themselves in their due sequence. But there was one point which Hanaud had missed, which should be brought to his notice. The mouse once more, he thought with all a man's vanity in his modesty, would come to the help of the netted lion. He cleared his throat.

"Miss Ann, there is one little question I would like to ask you," he began, and Hanaud turned upon him, to his surprise, with a face of thunder.

"You wish to ask a question?" he said. "Well, Monsieur, ask it if you wish. It is your right."

His manner added, what his voice left unsaid, "and your responsibility." Jim hesitated. He could see no harm in the question he proposed to ask. It was of vital importance. Yet Hanaud stood in front of him with a lowering face, daring him to put it. Jim did not doubt any longer that Hanaud was quite aware of his point and yet for some unknown reason objected to its disclosure. Jim yielded, but not with a very good grace.

"It is nothing," he said surlily, and Hanaud at once was all cheerfulness again.

"Then we will adjourn," he said, looing at his watch. It is nearly 1 o'clock. Shall we say 3 for the commissary of police? Yes? Then I shall inform him and we will meet in the library at 3 and'——with a little bow to Betty—"the interdict shall be raised."

"At 3, then," she said gaily. She sprang up from her chair, stooped, picked up her handkerchief with a swift and supple movement, twirled upon her heel and cried, "Come along, Ann!"

The four people moved off towards the house. Betty looked back.

"You have left your gloves behind you on your chair," she said suddenly to Hanaud, Hanaud looked back.

"So I have," he said, and then in a voice of protest, "Oh, Mademoiselle!"

For Betty had already darted back and now returned dangling the gloves in her hand.

"Mademoiselle, how shall I thank you?" he asked as he took them from her. Then he cocked his head at Frobisher, who was looking a little stiff.

"Hh! ha! my young friend," he said with a grin. "You do not like that so much kindness should be shown me. No! You are looking very proper. You have the poker in the back. But ask yourself this: 'What are youth and good looks compared with Hanaud?"

No, Jim Frobisher did not like Hanaud at all when the urchin got the upper hand in him. And the worst of it was that he had no rejoinder. He flushed very red, but he really had no rejoinder. They walked in silence to the house, and Hanaud, picking up his hat and stick, took his leave by the courtyard and the big gates. Ann drifted into the library. Jim felt a touch upon his arm. Betty was standing beside him with a smile of amusement upon her face.

"You didn't really mind my going back for his gloves, did you?" she asked. "Say you didn't, Jim!" and the amusement softened into tenderness. "I wouldn't have done it for worlds if I had thought you'd have minded."

Jim's ill-humor vanished like mist on a summer morning.

"Mind?" he cried. "You shall pin a rose in his button-hole if it pleases you, and all I'll say will be 'You might do the same for me'!"

Betty laughed and gave his arm a friendly squeeze.

"We are friends again, then," she said, and the next moment she was out on the steps under the glass face of the porch. "Lunch at 2, Ann!" she cried. "I must walk all the grime of this morning out of my brain."

She was too quick and elusive for Jim Frobisher. She had something of Ariel in her conception—a delicate creature of fire and spirit and air. She was across the courtyard and out of sight in the street of Charles-Robert before he had quite realized that she was going. He turned doubtfully towards the library, where Ann Upcott stood in the doorway.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BROOK

Not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow a little brook ran over green, mossy stones, singing a jolly little song night and day. It bubbled and murmured and sparkled in the sun, and was, altogether, a beautiful little stream.

Gold and silver fishes swam in the brook. Song sparrows and robins fluttered in it to take their baths. Scooter and Tooter, Jingle and Jangle and Skipper and Nipper, the new little rabbit children of Uncle Wiggily, waded in the brook. Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the dogs; Bully and Bawly No Tail the frogs, and Lulu, Alice and Jimmie Wibblewobble, the ducks—all these children had fun in the brook and it was a happy stream.

One day, as Uncle Wiggily was sitting on the bank of the brook, twinkling his pink nose in the sun, some wild ducks flew in the air overhead.

"Come, let's fly down to the little brook and have a swim," quacked one wild duck to the other.

"No—not there—that is nothing but a common little brook," quacked the other duck. "Fly on until we come to the big river—that is the place for us to swim and preen our feathers."

So the wild ducks passed over the little brook to get to the big river, and the brook, seeing them go and having herad what the wild fowl said, felt sad and discontented.

"I wish I could grow into a big river!" chattered the brook.

"Why so?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, then I could make a noise in the world!" went on the brook. "I am so little now that only small children play in me—small animal children and little fishes. I want to be a big river, so the bears will splash in me and so that whales and sea lions will swim through me. I am tired of being a little brook."

"But you are such a lovely, singing little brook," said Uncle Wiggily. "Your water is so clear and cold. I can see the white pebbles over which you run, and the green mossy stones. Besides you flow into a big river farther down the country and the river flows into the sea. So, really, you become part of the great ocean."

"That isn't enough!" murmured the brook. "I want to be big myself, and I think I am going to be, for I see black clouds gathering in the sky. It is going to rain hard and perhaps enough water will fall to turn me into a big river!"

Surely enough it rained hard. Water from a thousand little rills and rivulets flowed down the hills into the brook. It rose and swelled, puffing itself over the bank until from a murmuring little stream it turned into a roaring torrent. Mud from the hills slid into the brook that had become a river. Trees and bushes torn from their beds, were washed down on the flood.

"See how big I am! See how great I have grown!" cried the muddy river. "Come and play in me now, little animal children! Come and jump across me, Uncle Wiggily!"

"No," sadly said the rabbit gentleman, "we are afraid of you now. When you were a little brook it did not matter if we fell into you, for your water was not deep, and it was clean and clear. But now if any of my little rabbit children slipped and fell in, you would carry them beneath your muddy water to the great ocean. Goodby, little brook. We can not love you any more."

Then the brook felt sad and was sorry it had wished to become a river, for it lost all its friends and though big fishes splashed in it, still they did not stay long.

And then the rains ended. The sun came out. No more water flowed into the brook and it grew smaller and smaller, until once more it was clean and clear, bubbling over the white pebbles and the mossy, green stones. Uncle Wiggily hopped to the edge and cried:

"Come, bunnies, and play in our brook, which has come back to us."

"And, oh, how glad I am to be back," sang the brook. "I was never intended for a big river," and it splashed a diamond drop of water on the bunny gentleman's pink nose, tickling it and making him sneeze "ker choo, ker chof." And so the brook went on—forever. And if the box of matches will help the gas stove get supper when the tea kettle gives a party for the coffee pot, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the water lily.

SPRING TIME FESTIVAL IS FEATURED

Glendale Women's Club Ends Year's Activities By Pleasing Program

The Thursday Afternoon club of Glendale closed activities for the year with a spring festival and bazaar yesterday in the prounds of the president, Mrs. Carrie Campbell, 1412 South Brand boulevard. Tables were arranged beneath the trees and vines for the visitors who patronized the cafeteria luncheon, while the booths for the bazaar were in the pergola.

Mrs. J. S. Vantine, assisted by a number of members, presided over the luncheon and sale of home-cooked food; Mrs. W. E. Anderson sold the aprons; Mrs. McNaughton Barnes, fancywork; Mrs. S. E. Brown, popcorn and fruit punch; Mrs. F. A. Archer, grab bag, and Mrs. E. J. Becker and Mrs. Ella Richardson, ice cream. Mrs. E. V. Bacon was chairman of general arrangements.

Program Is Given

Following luncheon, the festival idea was carried out with a program of pretty costume dances given out of doors by a number of the pupils of Miss Hazel Campbell of the Little Players' studio. The minuet was danced by Gwendolyn Merrill, Betty Campbell, Adele Lloyd and Olga Pade in dainty Colonial costumes. Doris Pade gave a Spanish dance in picturesque costume and with a tambourine.

Adele Lloyd appeared in a novel dance in Chinese costume and one in the costume of a nautch girl. Little Phyllis Pratt gave two readings, "'Ist Boys" (James W. Foley) and "Elmer Brown" (James Whitcomb Riley). Thalia Wilson was enjoyed in a reading, "Poor Old Maid," and Jean Campbell in a fancy dance.

The affair was a pronounced success socially and financially, but complete returns are not yet available.

Glendalian Mentioned As Manager Candidate

William H. Reeves, at one time city manager of Glendale, is one of the men being considered for the city managership of Pasadena to fill the place of C. W. Koiner, resigned, according to word from the Crown City today. City Manager Koiner tendered his resignation to the new board of City Directors after considerable friction regarding policy and the powers delegated under the city manager form. The names of a dozen prominent Pasadenans, including that of Mr. Reeves, have been mentioned for the managership.

500 HOMELESS FROM FLAMES AT RESORT

Property Damage at Seaside Town $400,000; Many Slightly Injured

NAHANT, Mass., June 11.—Five hundred men, women and children homeless, forty permanent home and summer cottages destroyed, several injured and property amounting to at least $400,000 ruined, was the toll taken by a disastrous fire which raged for more than four hours, sweeping the Bass Point section of this peninsula seaside town today.

Before the fire was under control, United States troops and coast guardsmen aided firemen from several cities in fighting the blaze. Fire brands swept up the coast toward "White Court" at Little's Point, Swampscott, summer White House of President Coolidge, but no damage was done there.

Many residents were slightly injured in fighting the flames.

Announcement indicating the rising popularity of the Star car is made by Ray A. McLean, president of the McLean Motor Sales Co., which has taken over the sales and service franchise for Glendale, Burbank and Eagle Rock. With large organizations in each of these communities the McLean Motor Sales Co. becomes one of the largest distributing units in California. The company gave up the Chevrolet franchise to take on the Star agency, which is showing tremendous sales increases all over the country. Rich territory served by the firm contains many thousands of auto owners, increasing monthly. Members of the organization are enthusiastic over the new move of the company.

"The thunder of applause that follows each move Star makes is resounding with terrific force in new sales records," says Ray A. McLean, president, in announcing the new connection. "We are happy to offer prospective buyers of motor cars and our friends, the new Star car.

"To us the little wonder car has made a tremendous impression wherever autos are talked about. Abundant power, speed and stamina to withstand punishment of many miles of travel, and the economical operation in setting up the highest gasoline figures in the last economy run to Yosemite, 27.96 miles per gallon, are some of the features. The Star has climbed every famous hill in the west. New and unbelievable performances are reported daily, checked by disinterested parties.

"We believe we are making the right move in taking over the Star franchise in this territory. Live selling organization, three places of business open always, and service unit certain to win friends among Star owners, are our chief assets.

"Back of us is a $50,000,000 organization, building thousands of cars every day and unlimited good-will among owners. Star sales in California in May showed advance of 70 per cent over May, 1924.

"The Jellison Motor Co. of Glendale remains in the organization as associate dealer to the McLean Co. Jellison was selling over ten Star cars monthly but the factory insisted on an additional representation in this territory. Open house will be held all week at three salesrooms. New Star coach and coupster on display are featured."

Traffic Plan Bared At Rotary Luncheon

Everington to introduce the speaker of the day on traffic problems, and outline what the Glendale Traffic commission expects to do here. He is executive secretary of the local body. He praised co-operation on the part of city officials and asked the support of the public.

Colonel Everington explained that the Kelker rapid transit plan which calls for an elevated line to Glendale, is something for the future, it first to be built to the Los Angeles river and later to Los Feliz road on Brand boulevard.

Pollyanna Speakes

Mrs. Flora Hammil Fitzpatrick, in charge of the educational work for crippled children conducted by the Board of Education, addressed the Rotary club, giving an outline of her work. She is known as the Pollyanna of the Glendale school system.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick and her assistant, Mrs. Thelma McIntosh, have enrolled during the year thirty-five children unable to attend school by reason of physical disability. This work started three years ago by the Glendale Rotary club and later taken over by the Board of Education has steadily grown until now it requires two teachers full time.

The work is carried out for the most part by visits to the homes and assignment of work for the interim. The children are also conveyed once a week to Mrs. Fitzpatrick's home where they are given lessons in hand work.

Exhibit Planned

An exhibit of this hand work will be held at the office of the Board of Education, 107½ South Brand boulevard, from June 15 to 20 inclusive. The public is cordially invited to visit this exhibit.

Glendale is almost unique in rendering this service to children who are unable to attend school.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick was introduced by C. C. Cooper, chairman of the committee on crippled children's work.

Rotary Boy Scout troop No. 9 leaves for camp at Jackson's lake in Swarthout valley, according to Warren Z. Newton, who will accompany the boys. He invited other Rotarians to go along.

List of Visitors

Visitors included Charles M. Hagler, Salina, Kan.; Earl F. Sims, Van Nuys; C. E. Crane, Honolulu; C. Douglas Flanigan, Athens, Ga.; Charles A. Gunn, Shanghai; F. P. Dudley, Huntington Park; Ed Butterfield, Burbank; Charles S. Freiey, Wm. McIntyre, F. H. McGuire and Charles Collom, Los Angeles.

WATER RIGHTS IN VERDUGO ARE GOOD

Counsel Tells Company That Small Stockholders Are To Be Protected

Riparian rights of small stockholders in the Verdugo Canyon Water Co., in which the city of Glendale is principal stockholder, were upheld in an opinion given the board of directors of the water company yesterday by Attorney W. E. Evans of the law firm of Evans, Pierce & Campbell, Los Angeles, it was revealed today.

The ruling is held to be one of utmost importance to Glendale water users who own shares of stock in the parent company, and especially to subdividers who wish to divert their purported shares of water from the mains of the Verdugo Canyon Water Co. to private properties.

Asks Water Diverted

Edward M. Lynch, owner of a tract of land in the northern part of the city, purchased 200 shares of stock in the Verdugo Canyon Water Co., and asked that his share of the water be diverted into the system of the North Glendale Water Co., in which he also owns an interest, by which it would be distributed over his property. The water company refused to divert the water, and he threatened to sue for writ of mandamus.

Relating the history of the water company, Evans said the decree partitioned the waters of Verdugo canyon streams among the land owners. Later the territory changed from agricultural to urban, and the water rights were purchased by individuals and corporations.

As a result, he says, Lynch is entitled to separate his share of water from the lands on which it had formerly been used, and to apply it to his own land in an entirely different part of the territory, but within the same watershed.

TRAFFIC ARRESTS

Glendale boulevard, in the Atwater tract, was the scene of numerous traffic arrests today, two Los Angeles motorcycle cops being parked in Glenhurst avenue, awaiting unwary mortorists.

PLANNERS ASK SMALL SIZE STRUCTURE

Exclusion of Apartments and Courts Being Sought In Foothill District

A move toward excluding apartment houses, bungalow courts and all other types of residential structures more than single-family capacity from the foothill residential district of Glendale, was made by the Glendale Planning commission in special session last night. The area in which apartments and courts would be banned includes all of the Grand View district, the Kenneth road section, Bellehurst, Rossmoyne and Verdugo Woodlands.

The commission recommended to the City Council that dates by set for hearings on the proposed restriction of these sections for class-A construction, single family dwellings only. According to the plan, hearings will be held in each district, with the planning commissioners present. Discussion will be invited.

The Planning commission also recommended to the council that the present set-back line of twenty-five feet in the residential district be maintained throughout the city and that applications for property line apartment buildings and other structures which it is proposed to build out to the sidewalk, be denied.

Thomas W. Watson, chairman of the commission, in explaining the attitude of that body in recommending the zoning of foothill property for single-family residences only, said that all portions of the district now zoned for business would, of course, be excluded.

Most of the property is now restricted against the erection of apartment houses and bungalow courts by clauses in the deeds, Watson said. By embodying this requirement in the zoning ordinance, however, all property would be protected not only for the present but likewise after the time limit on the deed restrictions expire, he declared.

Watson said that it is the intention of the planning commission to hold similar hearings throughout other residential parts of the city as soon as possible, with the definite purpose of restricting the area open to apartment houses and courts to certain sections only.

The policy of the commission in regard to changing the set-back ordinance to permit apartment house owners to build up to the line of the sidewalk, was clearly defined in the resolution passed last night, urging that the council refuse requests for such concessions.

Watson declared that it is the intention of the commission to insure against blocking future widening of streets in the congested residential districts by maintaining a set-back line at present which would permit widening without the necessity of moving any buildings.

ELECTION ON ANNEXATION PLANNED

Sycamore Canyon District Residents Vote Next Month On Project

An election will be called within the next month to permit voters within the Sycamore Canyon annexation district, lying directly northwest of the city limits, to vote on annexation to Glendale, as the result of a resolution adopted by the City Council today.

Petition for annexation was filed with the council today. City Attorney Ray L. Morrow was instructed to prepare the necessary proceedings to call the election.

Declaring that he believed it "the duty of the City Council to protect the merchants who operate inside four walls" against those who have little overhead, Acting Mayor C. E. Kimlin today opposed the spread of concerns in Glendale that sell camping equipment in the open.

Reasons Are Stated

L. E. Jewell, who asked a permit to operate a camping equipment establishment within the city, answered that "the proprietors are residents and taxpayers of Glendale, and as far as competition goes, that is something about which the council should not concern itself.

"Ninety per cent of the camping equipment bought in Glendale is purchased from Los Angeles retailers," he declared.

Application for the permit was referred to the city attorney and city manager, who will report to the council on Monday morning.

Residents of the southeastern part of the city included in Glendale flood district No. 2, appeared before the council today and urged that an assessment district be formed to pay the additional cost of covering a storm drainage ditch to be constructed from Chevy Chase drive and Adams street as far as Forest Lawn Memorial park.

City Engineer J. F. Johannsen was instructed to obtain data on the probable additional cost of covering the proposed drainage ditch. Plans for the drain will probably be submitted to the council next Thursday by the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors.

The city attorney was instructed to draft an ordinance amending the present dance law to permit restaurants and cafes to allow their patrons to dance without having daily licenses at $2.50 per day. The cost of the proposed monthly license tax will be set later.

George Karr and Sister Will Motor to Kansas

George B. Karr of 509 Spencer place, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Charlotte Busby, will leave Glendale next Wednesday by motorcar for Parsons, Kan. After visiting friends they will return with Miss Pahela Karr, 16, daughter of Mr. Karr, and Ralph H. Busby, 17, son of Mrs. Busby, both of the young people having graduated this year from high school.

Mr. Karr is the manager of the Baldwin Shirt factory here and will make this trip, camping along the way, serve as a vacation, in addition to bringing two new residents to Glendale.

Harry Thaw In Wild Ride Along Broadway

the other on a yellow back that is big for Broadway these days.

Up Broadway, through Central park, ignoring traffic signals and plunging around street cars, went the cab, with the slayer of Stanford White standing on the running board and yelling "Whoopee." Corners were taken on two wheels and a number of pedestrians made flying leaps for safety.

After a chase through Central park, Thaw returned to his starting point. He fraternized with the pretty little girls in the chorus and made a friend for life of one of them by telling her:

"My dear you look exactly like Lillian Russell when she was your age."

Harry was uncommunicative about his plans.

"I'm back," he said, "and not on business, either. I don't know how long I'll stay."

CALLA LILY WINS TWILIGHT BATTLE

Defeats Glendale Creamery Aggregation, 9 to 7; Overcome Lead

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

Blossoming out in new suits, regular outfits properly decorated with flowers and letters and outshining Solomon in all his glory, the members of the Calla Lily aggregation fittingly christened their spiffy apparel by defeating their rivals in sport and trade—the Glendale Creamery. The battle of the milk wagons resulted in a score of 9 to 7, with the flowered lads on the long end.

Aside from one hectic inning, the second, it was a good game. The Calla Lily milkers spotted the Glendale Creamery to a five-run lead, then came back in the third and fifth and forged ahead. The Glendale Creamery players scored seven runs in the second inning, but were held scoreless for the balance of the game.

King started on the mound for the Calla Lily team, but gave way to Blakemore in the second, after he had been touched for four hits, which accounted for five runs. McMullin's lucky single off Blakemore added the other two.

Hard-Hitting Gang

The Calla Lily team scored two runs in the first, when Shingledecker got on by reason of Heacock's error, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and romped home on D. Kerns' drive to left. D. Kerns stole second, and scored on H. White's error.

Three more runs were added by the Calla Lily crew in the third. Byers hit to right, then stole second and third. Shingledecker worked Hursley for a pass, and stole second. H. Kerns' drive to left scored Byers, Shingledecker being held at second, later stealing third, and coming home on a passed ball. D. Kerns doubled to left, scoring his brother. Avery flied out to McMullin. Randall fanned. Blakemore was hit by Hursley, but Rotman was thrown out at first to end the inning.

The next heavy session for the Calla Lily team came in the fifth. D. Kerns flied out to O. White. Morotz fumbled Avery's drive. Avery stole second and scored on Randall's single to left, beating the throw home. Blakemore hit to center, and Randall crossed the plate. Rotman's single sent Blakemore to third, where he scored on King's drive. Rotman was caught off third. King stole second and third, and scored on a passed ball. Byers singled, stole second, went to third on an error and was caught trying to steal home.

The Calla Lily crew pilfered sixteen bases, while the Glendale Creamery gang succeeded in stealing only four. The victory gives the Calla Lily team two wins and three defeats, while the Glendale Creamery remains in the cellar.

Tomorrow afternoon the Glendale Creamery and Christian Church teams are expected to play off a postponed game. This afternoon the Radios and the Public Service teams are scheduled to clash.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, June 11.—It is necessary to have been athletic, to have had adequate experience as a varsity man, to obtain a good coaching job and then succeed at it?

These questions are being asked by more than one young man who would like to take up the career of an instructor in athletics and yet pauses because he has never stood forth for his university on the thick turf of a football gridiron, has never brought his fellow students to their feet with a timely hit, a sizzling putout on the ball field, or caused timers to glance with deep interest at their watches as he has sped over the cinders.

Point, of course, is given to these problems through the approaching opening of the summer courses in coaching at various universities throughout the country, while at the same time boys who are graduating from the secondary schools are considering whether or not they shall enter the regular departments of athletic coaching which several middle western universities maintain as a definite curricular division.

George Huff, athletic director at the University of Illinois and head of the department of athletic instruction in this seat of learning, is perhaps better qualified than any other man in the country to give his views on the question set forth above and they are herewith presented as being timely and valuable.

"It is not necessary to have been a star athlete," says Mr. Huff. "Playing on varsity teams is possible for students who take the coaching course in college but lack of ability to make a varsity team is no bar to a career as a coach.

"The star athlete has an advantage in reputation and some prestige for which he usually receives a somewhat larger salary in his first year than graduates of the coaching schools who were not on the varsity squads.

"But after the first year salary depends upon individual work and the graduate who was not a varsity man, other things being equal, has just as good an opportunity for advancement as the former star.

"So far as Illinois is concerned some of the best records have been made by men who have had no varsity experience. More attention than ever is being paid to athletics and physical education and there is an increasing demand for trained men of high character."

Students at the coaching schools at Illinois, Michigan and elsewhere must of course have sufficient athletic ability to enable them to participate in the practice courses in the various sports where games are actually played and master the technique of the sports so that they will be equipped with practical as well as theoretical knowledge when they enter upon their careers, but such experience is separate from varsity practice and it is not necessary that students even be members of varsity squads.

As a matter of fact Robert Zuppke, the Ilinois football coach and one of the leading football instructors in the country, was never a varsity football player at his university, Wisconsin, and his case while perhaps exceptional is by no means unique.

HORNSBY AHEAD

ST. LOUIS, June 11.—Rogers Hornsby, Cardinal manager and second baseman, stepped ahead of Meusel in this season's home run race by knocking out one in the fifth inning of yesterday's game with the Dodgers, bringing his total to sixteen. Eight runs were scored all told by the Cardinals in this frame.

STECHER RETAINS WRESTLING BELT

Dan Koloff, Russian Giant, Thrown Twice By Mat Champion In L. A.

The mythical heavyweight wrestling crown, which has flitted from brow to brow with uncertain regularity in the last few months, each flit being to the accompaniment of claims and counter-claims, today continues to perch upon the raven-like locks of the latest claimant—Joe Stecher, following his victory over Dan Koloff, Russian giant, at the Exposition park armory, Los Angeles, last night. Stecher was awarded the first fall at the end of forty minutes and six seconds when Koloff got too rough to suit Tom Travis, referee. The second fall resulted from a scissors and arm hold in fifteen minutes and six seconds.

Renato Gardini threw Joe Komaresky in twenty-three minutes and three seconds with a headlock. Hans Steinke, German giant, saved $5000 when he threw Paul Palmini in six minutes, two seconds. Steinke offered to forfeit the sum if he failed to down his man in fifteen minutes. Joe Bonomo won from Joe Papiano in nine minutes, using an armhold. The card was the opening event of a series of matches to be staged by Lou Daro.

XLIV—More Fasting Records

In the search for fasting facts I find that the penance-worn saints of the early Christian church thought nothing of retiring to the desert for a month or two and dined on water taken from some dilapidated old cistern.

To touch even millet-seed on such occasions was considered a breach of their vows, forfeiting the merit of the enterprise, but at the end of the second month the gaunt world-renouncers had generally strength enough left to return home unassisted and prove how much benefit the fast had been to them.

Robert de Moleme, the founder of the Cistercian brotherhood, was overcome with grief on learning of the death of a female friend, and resolved to follow her to the Land of Shades.

Being averse to direct suicide, he retired to the mountain lodge of a relative, and abstained from food in hope that one of his frequent fainting fits would fade into the sleep that knows no awakening. But, finding himself alive at the end of the seventieth day, he reconsidered his resolution and began to suspect a miraculous interposition of Providence.

By resuming his meals, in half ounce instalments, he contrived to recover from a condition of frightful emaciation, and in the supervisions of an ever-increasing number of scattered monasteries, led an active life for the next fourteen years.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Walter Johnson, the grim old ruin, who was so tragically buried by the romanticists of baseball before the final game of the world series of 1924, is now engaged in the pastime of showing up his mourners by a brand of pitching which suggests that he means to lead his league in victories this season, whether the Washingtons win another pennant or not.

Never in the history of baseball has a "has been" found himself more loquaciously sobbed over than was Johnson after he had been defeated twice by the New York Giants in the annual classic. The fact was completely overlooked by the writers that Johnson had not pitched poorly in either game and that with a little batting support he would have won at least the first one.

Johnson was credited with everything from nerves down—or up—and it was freely asserted that he had pitched his last big league game. He was almost sidetracked into a minor league, where he would have been lost and might not have found the going as tranquil and successful as he has this season with Washington.

Thus far this season, the deceased Walter has won nine games and lost two. That is quite equal to anything any of the rest of the big-timers can show. He has pitched six complete games. That is doing remarkably well in these days when it is the fashion to yank a pitcher out the moment the other side threatens to make a run.

If he can keep up his present pace, Johnson should win about twenty-seven games and lose six this season.

It is probable that in all the history of baseball, there never has been given a greater tribute to a man who absolutely refused to stay down than has been given to Johnson this season, and he will have to lose two whole world series in succession before the men who buried him last fall will dare dig him another baseball grave.

Johnson has more speed this year, if anything, than he had last season. His arm began to work pretty well from the start of training and it is fairly certain that Johnson is more than glad he did not go through with the projected purchase of a California minor club, where he would have had worries aplenty to face.

The farther Johnson goes the more his records will increase and the nearer he will come to the triumphs of Cy Young, who gave twenty-two years of his life to the national game and had won 511 major contests before he quit. Johnson in all probability will have more than 400 by the end of this, his nineteenth year in the big leagues.

Were he to play four more years he might tie Young. He is the only living player who has a commanding lead for a possible tie. And twenty-five victories a year for four years doesn't look at all impossible, just now for this baseball "corpse" of 1924.

WALKER'S TOE IS HELP TO KEARNS

Injured Member Gets Delay In Fight; Gives Jack Time To Think

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 11.—It was stated today on sound authority that the hasty postponement of the Mickey Walker-Harry Greb world's championship middleweight fight goes much further than a mere injury to Walker's big toe. The writer's information is that the injury goes all the way to the dignity of Jack Kearns, manager of Walker, and the name of Jack Dempsey finds its way into the immediate business. The situation, according to the best advices, is briefly this:

Kearns desires a manager's license from the New York state athletic commission in order to second Walker in the Greb match. He cannot get it; that is, not unless he accepts Harry Wills' challenge to Dempsey for the heavyweight title. He doesn't want to accept the Wills defi any more than he wants tho stop a taxicab with his abdomen.

Walker's incapacitation, reported variously as a profound injury to the big toe on his left foot or right foot, or both, is said to have been a most welcome intervention, because it gave Kearns the chance to gaze before the gallows.

He admitted sending a cable to Dempsey in Berlin yesterday, but declared that the message had to do with the possibility of Dempsey's meeting Gene Tunney in a championship bout. Broadway scoffed openly today at this idea. The commission has ordained that Dempsey must meet Wills first if ever he deigns to dally with the gloves. Therefore, any talk of a meeting between Dempsey and Tunney hereabouts is regarded as idle chatter.

Kearns must be convinced of this himself, since he learned by personal experience on Tuesday last that the commission is not in a conciliatory mood. He paid the board a social call, sending in his visiting card and confidently awaited immediately reply. It was far from immediate. Half an hour later an attendant returned to inform Kearns that the commission was busy, very busy. Had Mr. Kearns made an appointment? No? That was too bad. Mr. Kearns would have to call again some time.

In brief, Kearns was far from getting his license and the Walker-Greb fight was less than two weeks in the offing. It left Kearns in the position of making a decision on the Dempsey-Wills matter by tomorrow at the latest. As it happened, Walker's injury was just the "breather" he needed.

GIANTS BEAT CUBS

Thanks to the conservative pitching of Dean and the hitting of Meusel and Kelly, the Giants pulled out a 5-to-3 decision over the Cubs.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 11.—In the dear dead days when California was the center of the pugilistic industry and fighters were fighters, the art of ballyhoo was pretty much unknown. The best advertisement of a fighter was a real fight. What he did in the ring and not what his managers and promoters said he could do, was the basis of his prestige.

But now it is greatly to be feared that the spread to California of the wide sweeping wave of pugilism has brought with it a lot of flotsam and jetsam which has littered the eastern and middle western billows.

Listen, for instance, to the chortling of Jimmy Dougherty, the Baron of Leiperville, who has Gawge Godfrey, his big black butler, out on the west coast where the other day Gawge defeated Jack Renault on points and is now being groomed to tackle Luis Firpo out there.

"I have been holding Godfrey back for two years on account of my friendship for Dempsey as I was positive he could beat Dempsey and I did not want to humiliate my friend." Can you beat that one? But wait: here is something better. "Dempsey has boxed him over 150 rounds and has never in all that time been able to put a glove on him."

Wow! The last memory the writer has of Gawge was when Dempsey put a glove on him so hard in a training camp workout at Great Falls, that two of Godfrey's ribs were cracked like slats.

Speaking of Dempsey it is now clear that he is the only fighter in the world that can draw a $300,000 house. Promoters and managers of big outdoor shows are learning this to their sorrow The Tunney-Gibbons fight at the Polo Grounds was a bust from the promoters angle because of the money the fighters cost and the Berlenbach-McTigue card was far from a sell-out.

There seems to be no doubt that the biggest money making battle of the year will be the Italian hospital fund bouts at which Wills and Weinert will fight. This bout does not figure much from a sporting standpoint but the Harry Greb-Mickey Walker fight is sure to give the card a fine boost.

Then, too, all the Italians in the city are behind this show. In Mulberry street in the Italian shops you will see fight tickets stuck in the windows and everybody who expects to do any business with these shopkeepers, that is, salesmen and the like, have to buy tickets.

Here is the string of fighters that Jack Kearns is trying to sign up in addition to Mickey Walker who is with him already: Jimmy Malomely, the promising heavy; Ace Hudkins, the leading west coast lightweight; and Hayden Pythian, the University of Southern California football players, who is said to be a fine middleweight prospect.

Tod Morgan Has Easy Time Defending Title

OAKLAND, June 11.—Tod Morgan, Vallejo, Pacific coast featherweight champion, had little difficulty in defending his title last night, winning with ease a ten-round decision from Joe Gorman of Portland.

Most ringside critics gave Morgan every round. He scored a knockdown right off the reel in the first round, sending his opponent down for a count of two with a terrific right to the jaw.

Throughout the fight Morgan gave Gorman a boxing lesson and from time to time, especially in the second, third and fifth, sent home a series of hard rights to the jaw which visibly jarred Gorman.

NAB RUM RUNNER

SCITUATE, Mass., June 11.—Machine gun fire from a coast guard patrol today resulted in the capture of a rum running motor boat after a five-mile chase off Cape Cod. The rum runner was carrying three hundred cases of alcohol.

Patsy Flannigan And Danny Martin Close

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Patsy Flannigan, St. Louis featherweight, and Danny Martin of Portland will probably be rematched as an outcome of their bout here last night. Flannigan took a close decision from Martin at the end of the ten rounds of hectic battling, but the decision was an unpopular one and newspaper critics were inclined to regard the affair as a draw. Five of the rounds were extremely even. Flannigan had a shade in three and Martin in two.

JAIL CONSPIRATORS

MADRID, June 11.—There was only one plot to assassinate King Alfonso by bombing his train and this was discovered in time to enable police to arrest some of the conspirators, several of whom confessed, said a government statement today.

New Date For Hospital Fund Bouts Unsettled

NEW YORK, June 11.—An amicable date for the Italian hospital fund bouts featuring Mickey Walker and Harry Greb, and Harry Wills and Charley Weinert, had not been decided upon early today, one report having it that the show would be transferred from the Polo grounds to the Yankee stadium. The bouts originally scheduled for June 19 but were postponed to a July date, owing to an injury to one of Walker's toes.

The fact that the New York Giants will resume play at the Polo grounds on July 5 has prevented Humbert J. Fugasy and Jimmy De Forest, promoters, from reaching an agreement on the date. They will hold a conference on the matter today.

Secretary Weeks Is Convalescing Slowly

BOSTON, June 11.—The condition of Secretary of War John W. Weeks was "satisfactory" it was stated today at Phillips house, Massachusetts general hospital, where the secretary is convalescing from an operation for gall stones. The secretary was said to be gradually regaining his health.

Alleged Bandit Faces Court In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—Norman Godier, alleged "bullet-proof vest bandit," went on trial today for the attempted murder of V. C. McCaslin, El Segundo policeman. Godier's partner was killed in a fight with McCaslin after the pair had been caught in an asserted attempt to rob a bank.

Michigan Police Get Big Haul In Liquors

DETROIT, June 11.—Rare liquors valued at more than $250,000 were being lifted out of a dugout cache on the banks of the Detroit river by Michigan state police as the result of raids conducted early today.

OPPOSES REVISION

ATHENS, Ohio, June 11.—revision of the basic schedules of the existing Jacksonville wage agreements or lowering of mine wages in the bituminous coal industry will be tolerated, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America today told an audience of 5,000 Hocking valley miners at the Athens county fair grounds here.

GLENDALE PROPERTY

POSITIVELY NO EXAGGERATION

In all of our experience in Glendale Real Estate we have never been privileged to offer as fine a home for the money as this one at 1447 N. Hillcrest (formerly Chester), 2 blocks west of Pacific on Kenneth. Its seven large rooms, most artistically and expensively finished, with upstairs bedrooms is most appealing. Solid mahogany trim, tile bath, 2 toilets, Batchelder tile fireplace, double garage, tile roof, etc., etc., give it the intrinsic value. An inspection will make you love it; the arrangement of rooms is so perfect and the view over the entire city of Glendale from the upper deck is most delightful.

FEET FRONTAGE FOR ONLY $1500

In the next block 50-ft. lots are priced at $2250 and UP. By any comparisons this 59 feet WOULD STILL BE A BARGAIN at $1000 more money. THINK OF IT! For the price of "just a lot"—a little lot on the flats—you can buy a BIG LOT—an ABSOLUTELY PERFECT home site on high ground, with a wonderful view, protective restrictions and the very highest class environs. There are districts where "view lots", not to be compared with this, are actually selling at several times this "fire sale price" of $1500. WHY THE PRICE? Owners simply cleaning up the last of the subdivision. Rather than keep up the trust agreement for 5 lots, they prefer to "wind it up", even at such a sacrifice. There is JUST ONE like this 59 feet. At $1500 there should be several people out to buy it tomorrow afernoon.

NEW CHARGES IN TYPHOID MYSTERY

Shepherd Studied Chemistry In Home Of Man He Slew Prosecutor Claims

CHICAGO, June 11.—William Darling Shepherd, 15 years ago, set up a chemical laboratory in the home of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, whose son William, he is accused of slaying.

This statement was revealed for the frist time today when State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe began his opening statement to the jury in Shepherd's trial.

The courtroom was packed when Crowe began his statement. Mrs. Julie Shepherd, the defendant's wife, off in her corner, murmured over and over again as Crowe continued his arraignment:

"It's a lie. It's a lie."

"The evidence will show that when Shepherd lived with Mrs. McClintock he had in his closet a laboratory containing fifty to seventy-five bottles of drugs, a Bunsen burner, test tubes and breakers," said Crowe. "He kept the safe locked and did not permit the maid of the house to go in there."

Many Charges Made

"He tried to poison the mind of Mrs. McClintock against her friend and attorney, Mr. Reichman," said Crowe. "He told several friends of Mrs. McClintock that Reichman was a crook. The evidence will show that he was describing, not Reichman's, but his own intentions."

The opening statement followed a long argument as to what should or should not be offered by the state, in which the court overruled the defense.

Step by step Crowe pieced together his charges, the people's charges that Shepherd, over a long period of years, planned to get control of the McClintock estate and finally declared he, Shepherd, committed murder to do it.

First Witness

Shepherd today faced the nemesis that has pursued him relentlessly for six months. The nemesis was Chief Justice Harry Olson of the municipal court and he was the first witness called in the trial.

Judge Olson was examined at length as to his early acquaintance with Billy's mother. Objections were rained into the record by the defense, the court ruling with it on occasions. Despite this, Judge Olson told the jury of the death of Billy's mother. His examination was short and his cross-examination dealt with unimportant conversations with Billy and his mother.

Alexander F. Reichmann, an attorney, was then called. He was attorney for Billy's father in 1895. The latter died intestate, he said, and described the manner in which the estate was handled. He told how he met the Shepherds in the McClintock home.

EMPLOYES OF CREAMERY GUESTS

Calla Lily Workers Attend Annual Banquet Given By Proprietor

Eighty employes of the Calla Lily creamery, their wives and friends, were guests of E. Paggi, proprietor, at the second annual dinner held last night at the Glen Inn. The event also marked the celebration of Mr. Paggi's birthday, and the creamery employes presented him with a velvet smoking jacket.

After a bountiful dinner, prepared under the direction of A. L. Thomson, proprietor of the Glen Inn, Mr. Paggi thanked the employes for their co-operation during the past year. He stated the creamery business had grown 100 per cent in the last year, and predicted even greater advancement during the coming year.

Mr. Paggi said he had been in the creamery business twenty-nine years, coming to Glendale from San Fernando, where the fame of Glendale as the fastest growing city in America had traveled, and prospects here induced him to start his creamery plant. He told of the desire to keep up the quality of Calla Lily milk, and the work necessary to locate farms where good milk was produced.

Increases Herd

V. Blackburn, who produces the guaranteed raw milk sold by the creamery, stated that the demand for Calla Lily products had made it necessary for him to increase the size of his herd, until he was milking twice as many cows today as he was a year ago.

J. H. Wolfe, wholesale driver, who has the account of the largest restaurant west of the Rocky mountains, stressed the importance of quality and service in the milk business. Don Kerns, retail driver, told of the work connected with building up a business in Hollywood.

L. C. Elliott, cashier for the Calla Lily creamery, presented the birthday gift to Mr. Paggi. E. A. Sanborn, office manager, spoke on the firm's policy for the coming year, and A. R. Reed, wholesale foreman, told of plans for building up business.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Robert Avery, pianist; Miss Alice Adkins, banjoist, and W. E. Parker, pianist.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 11.—Oil stocks gave an excellent exhibition of their newly-acquired strength and popularity in the stock market today, reflecting also the steady improvement in the oil industry and the brighter prospects for the refiners and marketers of oil products. Since the early part of 1924 the most consistent laggards in the stock market, the oil stocks, in the last week or so have been in better favor with both the professional and public traders. This is due in large measure to evidences that oil consumption has finally overtaken production and that the piling up of surplus oil supplies will be on a much smaller scale in the future.

Enthusiasm for General Petroleum oil stock was stimulated by reports of increased operation and profits of the principal oil companies and, in the case of Texas Co., by the expectation of an increase in the common stock dividend. Though not as active in the last few sessions, the higher-priced market specialties and motor stocks advanced in good form to higher price levels. Havana Electric, Maxwell Motors, Dupont and Pullman moved up on limited trading from 2 to 8 points. The mercantile stocks joined this group later in the day, Woolworth advancing 5 points, to 137½; Gimbel, Macy, Montgomery Ward and others up a point or more.

The bulls were more aggressive and more confident in their battle with the bears. Seeing the tide of battle going against them, the bears rushed in to cover in stocks in which the short interest was uncomfortably crowded. Money conditions were favorable to the bulls, with call money down to 3¾ per cent; call money available at 3½ per cent in the outside market and the financial district discussing the probability of a reduction in the rediscount rate of the federal reserve bank. The stability of United States Steel in the face of a heavy decline in forward orders served as an excellent bullish factor.

The rail and equipment stocks were generally inactive, though some of the former regained the losses sustained yesterday. New York Central moved up 114½; Union Pacific, Atchison, Western Maryland, Baltimore & Ohio, etc., made fractional gains. Maxwell Motors "B" certificates sold up 5½ points, to 113½; Havana Electric gained 8, and American & Foreign Power registered a new high above 40. Outside markets were steady with cotton advancing about $1 a bale and grain prices slightly lower.

Oil stocks maintained their buoyant tone until the close of the session, most of the independent oil shares reaching their highest price levels near the close.

Stock sales today, 1,356,000 shares; bonds, $12,232,000.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—The absorbing topic of traders today, here as elsewhere, is the meteoric rise in the stock of the First National bank of New York which jumped $140 in yesterday's trading, what little there was of it. It came as the rest of an announcement that a dividend of 25 per cent would be paid. Other bank stocks today are reflecting in the glory of this announcement.

West Coast Oil also showed up with a $3 extra dividend in addition to its regular quarterly $1.50 dividend. Oils are on an upward trend and are holding interest of traders both here and in New York.

A. D. Myers, Los Angeles and Goldfield mining man, is making an inspection of his properties in the Panamint range and at Tonopah, Nev. It has been explained that his difficulties with other interests in the former field are over water rights, authorities having been requested to untangle conflicting rights.

ONCE UPON A TIME — THE THREE WISHES II. — BY W. J. ENRIGHT

YOU MAY BE SURE THE OLD WOOD CHOPPER HURRIED HOME AND, BURSTING INTO THE HOUSE, TOLD HIS WIFE OF THE THREE WISHES THEY WERE TO HAVE.
SO THEY SAT DOWN BEFORE THE FIRE TO TALK OVER WHAT THREE THINGS THEY WANTED MOST IN ALL THE WORLD. THEY THOUGHT OF PALACES AND RICHES AND CLOTHES AND NEARLY EVERYTHING UNDER THE SUN.
FINALLY THE DAY GREW LATE AND THE OLD MAN WAS HUNGRY AND FORGETTING HIMSELF FOR A MOMENT HE SAID, "HOW I DO WISH WE HAD A FINE BLACK SAUSAGE SUCH AS YOU USED TO MAKE."
SUDDENLY BEFORE THEM ON THE HEARTH APPEARED THAT WHICH HE HAD WISHED FOR.

Councilman Tower Scores Peter Ferry

raignment of the action. He had taken no part in the discussion earlier.

"Ferry's case is somewhat different from others because of the fact that he was ordered to move by the City Council," explained Councilman C. J. Hatz.

"Sure," replied Tower, "it was different. He was ordered to move because his mules had become a menace to the health of the surrounding territory and because his place was a detriment to the whole of Glendale.

"He has been given privileges by the City Council time after time. I consider it as pronounced partiality in the administration of city affairs."

Acting Mayor C. E. Kimlin declared the council justified in its action. He said that Ferry "would have stayed there" if the city had permitted it, but when he was forced out he should not be required to pay the $65 fees.

City Attorney Ray L. Morrow said that while the ordinance does not stipulate directly, he declared it indicated that when similar situations arise in condemnation actions that require moving of buildings that free permits shall be issued.
